FIGHTING OF EXTREME VIOLENCE IN FRANCE AND THE CARPATHIANS

Russians Checked by the Germans, But Confident of Final Success.

OTHER BATTLES CEASE

Troops of Both Sides on Other Fronts Resting—Await Developments.

Early Renewal of Attack on the Dardanelles.

London, April 10.—There has been a considerable extension of the battlefields both in the Carpathians and in the Woevre district of France where fighting of extreme violence continues day and night without, however, any definite decision having been reached in either region.

The Russians have made themselves masters of the principal chain of mountains from Dukla Pass to Uzsok Pass and have begun an attack on the German forces which hold the hills from the latter pass eastward to the Beskid Pass. This section of the Carpathians has been the scene since early February of many fierce encounters between Germans who were sent to help the Austrians in their fruitless efforts to relieve Przemysl and the Russian army whose task it was to hold them back until the fall of the fortress.

Now this German army has been given another task—that of trying to prevent the Russians from straightening out their line, which is necessary before the invasion of Hungary is undertaken. It is apparent that this army has succeeded in at least checking the Russian advance as the Austrian official report claims a victory for the Germans in this section while the Russians admit that they have been unable to capture hill No. 992, which lies about midway between Uzsok and Beskid passes.

Confident of Success.

As the Russians have immense forces at their disposal and splendid railways to take them to their front, confidence is expressed here that they will succeed as they did in the Laborcza valley in countering this check. The British military writers, however, warn the public that they must not expect a speedy conclusion of the Carpathian battles, as the Russians still have serious obstacles to overcome and the further they advance through the mountains the more difficult will be the task of keeping their armies supplied.

The French army in Woevre is hammering at the two sides of the German wedge, which was driven into the French lines as far as St. Mihiel early in the war and which thus far has remained firm, and simultaneously has attack the German front which passes close to the Lorraine border between Nacy and Chateau Salins.

The capture of Les Eparges, on the Northern side of the wedge appears to have been the most marked success the French have gained after almost a fortnight's fighting, although the manner in which the Germans are counter attacking in the forest Monta mors to the southeast would indicate that they feel the pressure from that direction most severely.

All the other attacks the Germans claims to have repulsed with heavy losses to the French.

As if the battles in the Carpathians and the Woevre were enough for one time, the campaigns in other parts of Europe and in Asia seem to have come to a standstill. There has been isolated fighting along the East Prussian border and along the Yser river in Flanders, but the engagements have been small affairs as compared with the two great battles. The Russians and Turks occasionally come into conflict in the Caucasus, but on the whole the campaign of the Allies against Turkey is awaiting the commencement of a new and bigger effort to force the Dardanelles.

Germany's note to the United States objecting to that country supplying arms and ammunition to the Allies is given a prominent place in the day's news, but has not yet been commented upon.

FRENCH OFFICIAL ACCOUNT.

Regarding Progress of Campaign Against Germans Given Out.

Paris, via London, April 10.—The following official statement regarding the progress of the campaign was issued by the French war office tonight:

"Between the Meuse and the Moselle we have retained all the ground gained and have made fresh progress. Between the Orne and the Meuse there have been no engagements.

"As Les Eparges the enemy has undertaken no action either with infantry or with artillery, and the day passed quietly. The whole position is in our power and statements of prisoners emphasize the importance of our success.

"The Germans since the end of February had in this part of the front the entire 23rd division of reserves. Then, toward the end of March, when that division was exhausted the 10th active division of the fifth army corps, composed of the best troops of their army, was brought up. It is this division which has just lost the veritable fortress constructed on the spur of Les Eparges. The troops had frequently been ordered to hold on at all costs; they were told that the position was of the greatest importance and theri general said that in order to keep it he would sacrifice the division or the army corps or 100,000 men, if necessary.

KILLED WIFE FOR FOLLOWING ARMY

French Officer Acquitted Court Martial at Pari[s]

REFUSED TO LEA[VE] M

Order That Wives of Soldiers and Officers Could Not Visit Them During Campaign Issued—Refused to Leave Front.

Paris, April 10.—Captain Jean Herail, an officer in the French cavalry, was acquitted today by a court martial which tried him for killing his wife at Compiegne last November because she persisted in following the army in order to be near him. Previous to the shooting orders had been issued by the military authorities prohibiting officers and soldiers from receiving their wives during the campaign. It was brought out today that Captain Herail became mentally unbalanced through worry over the possible results of his wife's refusal to obey this law and leave him.

Seldom has a more pathetic scene been witnessed in a Paris court than that of today when Captain Herail took the stand in his own defense. The soldier wept as he told of the great love which he bore for his wife and of how, when she steadfastly refused to return home, and he believed he would be cashiered he became "absolutely mad and was driven to the last extremity" of killing his loved one. The court room was crowded with women and officers and as Captain Herail sobbed out his story many of them shed tears of sympathy.

Why She Refused to Go.

Captain Herail told of the mutual love which prompted his wife to refuse to be separated from him while he was at the front and of his own loyal love.

"You do not realize how great was the love I had for my wife," he said brokenly. "When I believed I would be cashiered because of her determined refusals to return home, although I implored her time and again, I became mad, absolutely mad, and was driven to the last extremity."

Here the captain broke down and sobbed bitterly for five minutes.

Colonel Jacquillat, who presided over the court, reproved Captain Herail sharply for placing all the blame upon his wife and asked why he did not use some other method than to shoot her.

"I did," replied the captain. "I tried every means. I was unstrung; I was out of my mind to kill the wife I loved."

Captain Herail went into many details of his happy married life. Eight times he was overcome and broke into tears.

Colonel Moineville, commanding Captain Herail's regiment, the Eleventh Hussars, testified regarding the orders which had been communicated to officers forbidding wives from visiting their husband at the front. He spoke of the defendant's excellent military success during 22 years in th regular army.

Major Bouchez told the court of reading the colonel's final order to Captain Herail that his wife must leave him or he would be court-martialed for disobedience. When he had heard this order he said Captain Herail went into the next room where his wife was.

Major Bouchez then heard a shot and rushing into the room found Mme. Herail lying before the fireplace.

SUPREME COURT ASKED TO RELEASE S. C. NEGRO.

On the Ground That Fair Trial for Negro Impossible in State.

Washington, April 10.—Release on habeas corpus of Frederick Brown, a negro, held in Philadelphia for extradition to South Carolina to answer to a murder charge was sought in the Supreme Court today on the ground that constitutional guarantee of a fair trial is a dead letter in South Carolina so far as negroes are concerned.

"Public sentiment is such in the state of South Carolina that negroes may be lynched in the most horrible manner, and their bodies distributed as souvenirs," the brief filed with the court declares. "These atrocities go unpunished for the reason that no jury could be found to convict those guilty of the offense. It is the unwitten law that if a negro is so unfortunate as to kill a white man, he may be killed or lynched as an outlaw by any one who has the time to indulge in the diversion."

Brown was denied a writ in the Pennsylvania courts.

Chapel Hill, April 8.—Hubert M. Blalock, of Raleigh, won the Carr medal Wednesday night in the Junior oratorical contest. Mr. Blalock's speech was entitled "Presidential Party Leadership" and was excellently written and delivered. Mr. Blalock was the representative of the University in the State Peace contest in February.

Kinston, N. C., April 10.—The Chamber of Commerce is enthusiastic over the report that has come to it in a letter from Raleigh that the Corporation Commission has issued the order requiring the Atlantic Coast Line and the Norfolk Southern and affiliated lines to construct the local union passenger station.

NEW YORK MARKETS SHOW EXCITEMENT

Sales in Stocks Exceeded 500,000 Shares in First Hour.

COTTON ON ADVANCE

[Sce]nes of Wildest Excitement on Floor of Both Stock and Cotton Markets During Short Session of Saturday—Crowds.

New York, April 10.—Scenes of wild excitement attended renewal of operations on the stock exchange today. The trading floor was crowded with members and the visitors' gallery was lined with spectators, many of them women in gay attire.

United States Steel, leader of yesterday's spectacular movement, again was the chief feature, opening with a block of 15,000 shares at 57 1-2 to 57 3-4, and soon advancing to 58. Bethlehem Steel was the only leading stock to hold back, declining two points. Recessions, ranging from a fraction to 2 points, ensued soon after the initial outburst on heavy profit-taking.

Sales in the first hour exceeded 500,000 shares which surpassed all records since 1909 the year of the great speculative boom. Prices continued to react under the weight of increased realizing sales and many gains were wiped out, some of the standard shares selling materially under yesterday's close. Steel was conspicuous in this connection, declining to 55 1-2. Its contribution to the business of the first hour was 117,000 shares.

Prices recovered from the lowest levels before the close but failed to repeat their best quotations of the first hour. Sales for the two hours aggregated 800,000 shares, the largest Saturday's total in six years.

COTTON UP $1.00 A BALE

Late Delivery Months Make New High Records—Better Conditions Prevail.

New York, April 10.—Cotton went up a dollar a bale in an active and excited market in the first hour of trading today. Top figures touched $2.50 a bale above the low levels of yesterday morning, and a new high record was made for the year, and the movement.

Values today soared to $15 a bale more than the low prices of last December.

An avalanche of buying orders swept the market. Wall street and commission houses bought heavily, and the big advance in Liverpool added new snap to the movement.

The strength of the stock market was reflected. Other factors influencing the upward trend were reports of improvements in the general trade situation and more hopeful views of the European peace prospects.

Realizing caused moderate reactions late in the morning, but the close was steady at a net advance of 11 to 15 points.

NATIONAL PROSPERITY IS NOW A CERTAINTY

Secretary McAdoo Says Changes Made by Democratic Party for the Good.

Washington, April 10.—Declaring that only illness prevented him from accepting the invitation of the West Chester County Democratic club to its banquet in New York tonight, Secretary McAdoo wrote President Van Cortlandt of the club today saying that national prosperity, "now planted upon secure economic foundations," is becoming more pronounced and widely diffused every day."

"The financial and economic situation in the United States," the letter said, "is the strongest in the world. With such inherent power the only thing that can overtake us is prosperity, unless some catastrophe beyond human control should intervene."

Summarizing the work of the Wilson administration, Mr. McAdoo wrote:

"A nation saved from the disasters threatened by the European war; prosperity restored; peace preserved; government administered in the interest of all the people; back-door influences destroyed; high moral standards maintained; legitimate business safe-guarded; the tariff intelligently reformed; the Federal Reserve Act enacted and a new and safe financial system established; these are in part the Democratic achievements during the brief period of two years. The party can face the country on its record with confidence in itself and trust in the people."

TRADE COMMISSION WILL PROTECT THE AMERICANS

Who Go Into to Dye Manufacturing Business Against Competition.

Washington, April 10.—The Federal Trade Commission might protect Americans who begin the manufacture of dyestuffs in the opinion of Secretary Lane who called today at the White House.

"If, after the war, any foreign concerns should start cutting rates to drive American plants out of business I see no reason why the Trade Commission should not step in," he said. "It seems to me that Americans should go ahed and try to manufacture the needed dyestuffs to meet the demand of the textile manufacturers.

BIG DECREASE IN FIRE LOSSES.

Nearly 25 Per Cent Less in March, 1915, Than in March, 1914.

Raleigh, N. C., April 10.—At the State Department of Insurance information is given out that there is a marked decrease in fire losses in the United States and Canada for the month of March and the first quarter of 1915, as compared with corresponding previous periods. The total fire loss for March was $18,786,000 compared with $25,512,000 for March, 1914, and $17,500,000 for March, 1913. The fire losses for the first quarter of the present year were $51,928,000 against $70,461,000 for the first quarter in 1914.

AMERICANS WISH TO LEAVE MEXICO

Three Hundred Ask for Transportation From Tampico.

FOOD BECOMING SCARCE

Situation in Port City Reported Serious, Supplies Running Low and Attack Expected at Any Time—Developments.

Washington, April 10.—Three hundred unemployed Americans have appealed to the State Department for transportation from Tampico to the United States. The situation there was reported officially today to be serious. Food is scarce and an early attack on the city is expected.

Rear Admiral Caperton with the cruiser Washington went to Tampico today from Vera Cruz on his own initiative to join the gunboats Petrel and and Sacramento. Officials here discussed arrangements for the use of army transports which will be sent for the Tampico refugees if the State Department formally requests them.

The State Department had no news for the Celaya district where the forces of General Obregon and General Villa have been engaged in skirmishing preliminary to what is expected to be an important battle.

The Villa agency here protested to the State Department on behalf of General Villa on the expected presence of General Huerta on American territory, alleging that he intended to violate neutrality by starting a hostile movement against Mexico. No action was taken on the communication.

Will Not Stop Huerta.

The State Department does not intend to nterpose any objection to the admission of Huerta when he arrives in New York tonight or tomorrow but probably will take under consideration any proof of alleged violations of neutrality which the Villa agency might present.

A message from Brownsville tonight to the Carranza agency says:

"The movement of the Villa troops upon Matamoras seems to have resulted in a complete failure of plans for scouts returned today from Las Rusias report that General Rodriguez has been compelled to abandon his attack on Matamoras owing to hurried orders received to concentrate all his forces at Monterey as the small garrison left at that place is threatened with annihilation by a strong force of Constitutionalists."

A message signed by General Villa and sent from Ira Puato late today was received by the Villa agency here tonight and read as follows:

"In several encounters we have had today the enemy has been completely defeated."

STILL AWAIT ARTILLERY.

Villa Army Inactive—Lines Changed to Cut Off Meat Supply to Town.

Brownsville, Texas, April 10.—Villa forces investing Matamoras were inactive today. At the headquarters of General Rose Rodriguez, Villa commander, it was stated that the besieging army still was awaiting the arrival of field artillery. The whereabouts of the artillery train, en route from Monterey was not reported today. The reformation of the Villa lines yesterday was intended, it was explained, to cut off the supply of fresh meat which the Carranza garrison has been receiving from the south. The Carranza monoplane tonight made a trial flight over Matamoras.

Shots fired on a party of Americans near here yesterday were in the nature of a warning, C. B. Merriwether and the five Americans who accompanied him, stated to authorities here today. Merriwether said he and his companions went out on the American side of the Rio Grande, opposite the trenches, late yesterday and that they were warned of their dangerous position by a shot fired over their heads from the Mexican shore.

CHARTER GRANTED THE "ELLEN WILSON MEMORIAL"

In Honor of Late Mrs. Woodrow Wilson—Atlanta Women Start Movement.

Atlanta, Ga., April 10.—Twenty-one Atlanta women today were granted a charter by Superior Court Judge Ellis for the formation of "the Ellen Wilson Memorial" in honor of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson. The organization will have as its object the education of mountain youth, a work in which Mrs. Wilson was deeply interested.

The corporation will have no capital stock, but donations will be received for an endowment fund, which will be controlled by the executive committee of the home missions board of the Presbyterian church of the United States.

President Wilson when consulted recently in regard to the memorial gave the movement his approval. Mrs. Wilson was born in Georgia.

LARGE GIFT TO COLLEGE

Coker College at Hartsville Gets Donation of $120,000.

Columbia, S. C., April 10.—Announcement was made today of an additional gift of $120,000 to Coker Colelge, at Hartsville by Major J. L. Coker, its founder, for the construction of a "general service" building and equipment of chemical, biological and physical laboratories. Major Coker had given the college more than hal fa million dollars in previous donations.

VOTING BY MAIL

Will Be Allowed in Iowa if Governor Signs Bill Passed.

Des Moines, Iowa, April 10.—The Iowa senate today passed a bill allowing absent voters to send their ballots to their home precincts by mail. The bill now goes to the Governor.

HAVOC WROUGHT BY STRIKE REVIEWED

Walk-Out of Shopmen on the Harriman Lines in 1911.

BAD RESULTS FOLLOWED

Attorney Who Defended Many of the Strikers Appears as Witness Before Industrial Relations Commission at Chicago.

Chicago, April 10.—Havoc wrought among the 30,000 shopmen whose strike against the so-called Harriman lines in 1911 was lost was sketched statistically today before the Federal Commission on Industrial Relations by Frank Comerford, for many years attorney for the men. One thousand question blanks were sent at random to the strikers 34 months after the strike. His figures, Mr. Comerford explained applied to those 1,000 men and he thought that a fair social survey of the whole number could be obtained by multiplying his figures by 30.

Of the 1,000 men whose replies were checked up, according to Mr. Comerford 186 were single when the strike was called September 30, 1911. There were 1,743 children, a small number, which he thought might be traced to low wages and a subnormal scale of living. Forty-two per cent. of the men owned their homes or were buying them. The strike cost 15 per cent. of these their homes and of the whole number 31 per cent. moved from their lowly domiciles to even cheaper quarters. Twelve per cent. of the strikers had to sell their furniture and ten per cent. to seek charity.

The average period of idleness occasioned by the strike was one year. The witness claimed that he had traced 16 cases of suicide to the strike and nine cases of insanity.

Human Values in Dollars.

"This, in brief, is an attempt to represent human values in dollars," said Comerford.

Portions of his testimony and that of Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the board of the Southern Pacific formed a symposium on the force of public opinion and the channels by which it is influenced.

Mr. Kruttschnitt expressed the view that public opinion settled most strikes and generally gave a correct decision. He suggested the need of a vehicle by which both sides of a labor controversy could be presented to the public.

Mr. Comerford stated that of 116 cases of strikers defended by himself, 115 resulted in acquittals, "not through any cleverness of mine, but on the merits of the cases. The arrests appealed more to the news instincts of the editors than the dismissals, however, and the fact that 115 of the men were innocent received far less publicity than the facts of their arrests."

"I do not attempt to criticise the newspapers in this connection—it just happened that way," the witness continued. "Yet, public opinion was influenced against the strikers just in proportion as their arrests were more widely published than their acquittals. One page of the metropolitan advertising which the railroad bought broadcast would take a year's salary of a shopman. We believe in public opinion, as Mr. Kruttschnitt does, but these facts speak for themselves."

Mr. Comerford said Illinois Central employes were scattered along the railroads towns in influential positions:

"Lemon & Lemon, Clinton, Ill., attorney for the road at that point control Clinton's politics," asserted the lawyer, "the mayor of the town is a paid surgeon of the road and the business incomes of other officials of the city depend to some extent on the railroad. It seems unlikely in this connection, that honest mistakes were made in the arrests of 115 men out of 116."

SEVEN NEW MEMBERS ELECTED BY SOCIETY OF THE CINCINNATI

North Carolina Organization Meets in Annual Session in Fayetteville.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Fayetteville, N. C., April 10.—Meeting in annual session here today, the North Carolina Society of the Cincinnati elected to the privileges of the order seven new members. These are William McRae, of St. Louis; Bennett Dunlap Nelm, of Ansonville; Porter Gier Polk, Danville, Pa.; Sterling Glack Robertson, Phoenix, Ariz.; William Alexander Smith, Ansonville; Ernest Matthews Green, Newbern; John Gray Blount, Memphis, Tenn.

The convention was presided over by President Wilson G. Lamb, of Williamston, Mayor James D. McNeill, a member of the Delaware Cincinnati, delivered an address of welcome to the convention and read to the members the Liberty Point Declaration of Independence, signed here in 1775, which by motion was spread on the minutes.

The members of the convention were given an automobile trip about the city this afternoon. The annual dinner of the society was held at the Hotel Lafayette tonight.

WILSON GIRLS RETURN HOME WITH AYCOCK MEMORIAL CUP.

Misses Fleming and Gardner, Back from Chapel Hill, Welcomed.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Wilson, N. C., April 11.—It was a happy throng of Wilsonians who greeted the arrival here this afternoon of the two Wilson high school girls—Misses Laila Rook Fleming and Ethel Gardner—with rousing cheers when the girls alighted from the train returning from Chapel Hill where they, representing Wilson high school in the debate, won the Aycock Memorial cup.

Both girls are immensely popular and both have worked hard in preparation for the debates and Wilson is proud of the girls and proud to stand first in the list of high school debaters.

RATE MATTERS ARE UNDER DISCUSSION

Interstate Commerce Commission Calls Conference.

CONCERNING NEW LAW

Modification of Present Form of Bills of Lading and Increases in Certain Rates—Conferees Unable to Reach Agreement.

Washington, April 10.—Increase of certain freight rates and modification of the present form of bills of lading were proposed by railroad representatives while a six months test under present conditions was the counter proposal of traffic associations at a conference today called by the Interstate Commerce Commission to discover how carriers and shippers view changed obligations arising from the Cummins amendment to the railroad rate act.

The amendment becomes effective June 3. The commission itself is understood not to be entirely clear as to its effect and today's conference was called to learn whether there is a common ground on whch the railroads, the shippers and the commission can reach an agreement.

After discussion that lasted all day Commissioner Clark adjourned the conference, but gave all parties permission to file briefs before April 20.

Under present bills of lading with limited liability the carriers undertake the transportation of freight at the rates now in effect. Their tariffs, however, provide that where the shipper demands full liability there shall be an, automatic increase in the freight rate of 10 per cent. The carriers held today that when the Cummins amendment prohibiting limitation of liability becomes effective they may automatically increase their freight rates 10 per cent.

Traffic Associations Disagree.

This contention was not accepted by the traffic association representatives, who declared that the intent merely was in the liability of the roads not to bring about any increase in freights.

Lincoln Green, freight traffic manager of the Southern Railway, and apparently spokesman for roads in the South, contended that the railroads could automatically increase their rates 10 per cent after June 3rd. He said, however, that instead of such an increase the Southern proposed to make such modification in its bills of lading as would result in a 5 per cent increase on certain commodities where the risk will increase with the full liability clause in operation. He estimated that about 30 per cent of the Southern's entire freight traffic would be affected by the increase.

Mr. Green said the Southern expects to file by October 1, new tariffs for hauls to interior points in the South, in compliance with a recent order of the commission which will result in increases to some points and in reductions to other points. When these tariffs are filed the Southern will not expect to secure the automatic increase in addition.

O. E. Butterfield, representing carriers of official classification territory, declared the Cummins amendment should be so construed by the commission that carriers might eliminate from their present bills of lading the clause fixing liability for damage to the "invoice price" of the specials but retain the clause giving value "at the place and time of shipment," as the basis for damage claims, that action should be taken prior to June 3rd, he said, and the roads he represented would then not expect any general freight rate increase. With respect to live stock, household goods, glassware, paintings and a number of other commodities, rates of which depend on values, Mr. Butterfield argued there is added liability under the Cummins amendment and an increase in the normal rates should be permitted.

H. G. Wilson, president of the National Industrial Traffic League, suggested that the railroads first find out where heavy payments result from their increased liability and then demand increases on the rates for that particular kind of traffic.

NEGRO SHOT TO DEATH IN WOODS BY POSSE

Wanted for Robbery, Resisted Arrest, Seriously Wounded Officer.

Pinewood, S. C., April 10.—Joel Green, a negro desperado, was shot to death by a posse today after he had been treed in a swamp near here by blood hounds. He seriously wounded J. C. Robbins, state penitentiary guard, in an encounter with his pursuers.

Green was wanted on a charge of robbery. The posse, headed by Robbins, located him in a swamp late yesterday, but after a battle in which the negro killed two bloodhounds, he escaped. He was armed with a shotgun, two pistols and a knife and wore a steel breast plate.

GREAT CROP YEAR IN JONES

Is Prediction of Senator Simmons After a Visit to Farm.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Newbern N. C., April 10.—Senator Simmons returned to Newbern yesterday from a visit to his magnificent farm in Jones county. He spoke in the most optimistic terms, stating that, in his opinion, the farmers of Jones county are on the eve of one of the greatest crops years in the history of that section.

Chicago, April 10.—Sixty women lawyers of Chicago have placed their services at the disposal of Judge Heap of the municipal court, who is privileged to call any of them to defend girls brought before him. The women lawyers plan to appear for penniless young women who are arrested and brought into the morals court.

MORE CANADIANS JOIN KITCHENER

Second Expeditionary Force is Called to Join Colors.

RECEIVED WITH CHEERS

Canadian Parliament Gives News by Premier Sir Robert Borden Last Night—Force Has Been Ready Three Months.

Ottawa, Ont., April 10.—Lord Kitchener has called on Canada for a second expeditionary force. The news was given parliament tonight by Premier Sir Robert Borden, who said that the call had been expected for some time.

Three months ago General Kitchener was informed that the force was ready in Canada to sail for Europe. Premier Borden said that since that time the war office had been kept fully informed on its training and had made suggestions which had been followed with absolute precision by the Canadian authorities. Now that the summons had come, the second expeditionary force will go forward at an unrevealed date in the near future to join the first expeditional Canadian force at the front.

The Canadian second expeditionary force had not been summoned sooner "for reasons which commended themselves to the head of the war office and reasons which are generally recognized."

The premier noted that with an enormous number of men under training in Great Britain the task to provide accommodation and training for the various contingents from the overseas dominions was not an easy one.

Received With Cheers.

The announcement of Lord Kitchener's call was received with cheers from both parties in the house.

Premier Borden followed it with a statement of the progress Canadian authorities have made in raising, arming, training and dispatching troops since the opening of the war. This showed that in the Dominion and abroad on the pay roll of Canada 101,560 men are bearing arms or performing military service.

Officers and men numbering 36,420 have been despatched as the first Canadian expeditionary force and as reinforcements for it, the premier stated. The Royal Canadian regiment, 982 officers and men, was sent to garrison Bermuda. A detachment of one hundred officers and men was sent to garrison St. Lucia. In Canada the second expeditionary force numbered 22,272 officers and men. Reserve infantry battalions and the Canadian Mounted Rifles numbered 27,079.

There are recruited and organized for overseas service but not mobilized, 3,500. Thus the number so far enlisted for overseas service totals 89,353. In addition there were in Canada units of active militia on garrison and outpost duty numbering 9,777 and a permanent training force of 2,430, the premier said. There have been established in Great Britain training depots for each arm of the Canadian service.

"So far as at present can be foreseen" said the premier, "a number of about 150,000 men will be required should the war last another year. That is to say, an original force of 50,000 plus 50,000 sent overseas for reinforcements plus 50,000 in Canada under training."

Two armed machine gun units are being mobilized, one at Toronto and one at Montreal. It has not been decided whether they will accompany the second division abroad.

The mounted rifles are being mobilized in 13 regiments for service in Egypt.

RUNNER IN RELAY RACE AT NEWBERN FALLS EXHAUSTED

School Boy Unconscious for Hours From Exertion.

Newbern, N. C., April 10.—There was only one accident occurring yesterday to mar the combined commencement of the public schools of Craven county which was held in this city, and that occurred when Frank White, a young lad from the Pleasant Garden school, became exhausted while finishing the first mile of of a three-mile relay race and fell to the ground unconscious. A passing drayman saw the young man fall and carried him to the school campus, where he was given medical attention. For a while it was feared that he would die but he finally revived and is rapidly recovering.

TO BROADEN ZONE OF MILLING IN TRANSIT

Saw Mill Cities to Draw From Wider Territory.

Goldsboro, April 10.—Commercial Secretary M. R. Beaman, of the Goldsboro Chamber of Commerce, is in receipt of a letter fro mthe freight department of the Atlantic Coast Line in which notice is given that in about 30 days the Coast Line will enlarge the zone of its milling-in-transit rate for lumber from 77 to 150 miles. This means a distinct gain for Goldsboro and other milling points as it will enable these points to draw from a very much wider territory than ever before.

PROSPECTS FOR BIG ATTENDANCE AT BARACA-PHILATHEA MEETING.

Annual State Convention at Raleigh April 22nd to 25th.

Greensboro, N. C., April 10.—The very attractive and interesting programme for the fifth annual Baraca-Philathea State Convention, to be held in Raleigh April 22-25, has been announced by Miss Flossie A. Byrd, general secretary, of this city, to whom those who propose to attend should send their names promptly. Miss Byrd says that already 300 degelates have enrolled, in spite of the most unfavorable weather of last Sunday. She expects that 500 or 600 more will enroll within the next week or ten days.

MAY AVERT GENERAL STRIKE IN NEW YORK

Difference Between Two Unions Leads to Trouble

Commissioner of Labor Lynch Busy Trying to Settle Trouble Without General Walkout of Street Car Employes.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 10.—Despite the failure of the Chicago conference to adjust the difficulty between the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes, labor leaders tonight did not consider the strike situation entirely hopeless. There was an under current of feeling that a general strike might be averted.

James M. Lynch, state commissioner of labor, had separate conferences today with Representatives of the Empire United Railways and the Amalgamated Association. He said tonight that the "outlook was favorable." Strike votes will be taken here and in Buffalo Monday night according to Magnus Sinclair, organizer of the Amalgamated Association. The Rochester division has already voted to strike. A virtually unanimous vote in favor of a strike here was predicted.

Justice William S. Andrews today denied the motion of the New York State Railways to vacate the injunction restraining the company from preventing the Auburn and Syracuse cars running over State Railway tracks in this city. No attempt, however, has yet been made to resume the Syracuse-Auburn traffic.

No Effort to Run Cars.

Auburn, N. Y., April 10.—Contrary to expectations no efforts were made here today to run cars on the lines of the Auburn City railway and the Auburn and Syracuse Electric Railway company whose employes have been on strike since Thursday. However, Mayor Brister announced tonight that the city administration after waiting a reasonable time, would ask the companies to operate cars.

Despite the order of Justice Andrews of the Supreme court, directing the New York State Railways to restore wire service in Syracuse so that Auburn cars could enter the terminus there, no effort was made during the day to move a ca.

The Auburn Central Labor Union today voted to sustain the Amalgamated Association of Electric railway employes against its rival union, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and steam railroad conductors, which the trolley company recognized and with which it has an agreement.

DR. H. B. THOMAS, OF BURGAW, SUCCUMBS TO PENUMONIA

Popular Physician Died Yesterday Afternoon—Funeral at Newbern.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Burgaw, N. C., April 10.—The death of Dr. H. B. Thomas, which occurred today at 1 o'clock, was a severe shock to his friends and the community. While it was known that he was in a serious condition, and had been since last Monday, still it was hoped that he would recover, until today when pneumonia developed and it was seen by those familiar with his condition that his case was hopeless.

Dr. Thomas has been a resident here for about ten years, having moved here from Washington, D. C., and had built up a good practice in the medical profession. He was a brother of Ex-Congressman Charles R. Thomas, of Newbern; Rev. James Thomas, of Clinton, and Rev. John Stanley Thomas, who was for a time pastor of the Burgaw Presbyterian church. He leaves a widow and one child, who have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement. The remains will be taken to Newbern tomorrow morning for interment.

The friends of the venerable Mrs. Z. A. Pullen will regret to learn that she is in a critical condition, having suffered an attack of paralysis this morning about 6 o'clock. Mrs. Pullen has been quite ill for several days.

TEN WEEKS IN BED---EMINENT PHYSICIANS FAILED---WONDERFUL RECOVERY.

I wish to inform you of the great benefit I have derived from the use of Swamp-Root. I had been a sufferer for more than twenty years from kidney and liver trouble and was almost constantly treated by the most eminent physicians who could only give me temporary relief. I had been in bed ten weeks when I began the use of Swamp Root. Inside of twenty-four hours I could see that I had used several bottles when I really felt that my old trouble was completely cured and I am positive that any person suffering with kidney or liver trouble can be cured by the use of this preparation.

I am now in the best of health, better than I have been for ten years or more. I do not know how to express myself as strongly as I desire, in favor of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, as I am sure that it saved my life and that my good health is due entirely to this great remedy. I heartily recommend it to every sufferer, and am confident they can be benefited as I have been. It is a pleasure for me, gentlemen, to hand you this recommendation.

MRS. H. J. PRICE,
1406 Center St. Portsmouth, Ohio.

Personally appeared before me this 13th of September, 1909, Mrs. H. J. Price, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

R. A. CALVERT,
Notary Public.

Letter to
Dr. Kilmer & Co.,
Binghamton, N. Y.

Prove What Swamp-Root Will Do for You

Send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample size bottle. It will convince anyone. You will also receive a booklet of valuable information, telling about the kidneys and bladder. When writing, be sure and mention the Wilmington Star. Regular fifty-cent and one dollar size bottles for sale at all drug stores.

PLANS FOR CITY LEAGUE

Now Almost Completed and Personnel of Teams Will Be Announced Soon—League Officers.

The baseball fever has begun to manifest itself among the local enthusiasts and plans for the City League which furnished so much enjoyment last summer are now almost completed. The lovers of baseball in the city will rejoice to know that practically the same arrangement will exist this year as last in regard to games and teams.

Quite a number of shifts in players will take place, but the changes will be such that a well balanced league will result. No one team will be able to make a runaway race for the pennant but each one of the four teams will be in there fighting from the tap of the bell the 1st of May until the curtain is rung down at the close of the season the last of August.

President—L. T. Moore.
Vice President—D. C. North.
Secretary and Treasurer—L. F. Gore.

C. W. Davis will manage the Giants; "Happy" Lewis will pilot the W. L. I.; Ernest Irving will be the mentor for the Boys' Brigade, and O. A. Hamilton will essay the role of philosopher and friend of the Y. M. C. A.

The players' contracts were given to the various managers yesterday and they are all busy rounding up the promising amateur talent in the city. On nearly all of the teams there will be one or two semi-professional ball players—by way of adding tone—but the teams as a whole will be composed of baseballists who have never wore the spangles beyond the environs of the city.

Practically the same admission charges will be in force this year. It is not the desire of the organization to make money. The actuating motive is to furnish enjoyment for the baseballically inclined during the warm summer months, when wholesome amusement are at a premium. The players participate purely from a love of the game for the sport and healthful exercise which it offers.

The personnel of each of the teams and additional detailed information will be given in the press within a few days.

TELLS OF HIS JOURNEY.

Mr. Thos. D. Meares, Jr., Had Pleasant Trip Across Atlantic.

Mr. Thos. D. Meares, Jr., who went to Rotterdam on the City of Savannah on her sevond voyage across the Atlantic, has written his father, Capt. Thos. D. Meares, an interesting account of his trip. It is in the form of a diary and he recounts his experiences from day to day. It was for the most part devoid of excitement though on one day there was a considerable blow and those on board found it rather rough.

Just before reaching Rotterdam through their wireless the City of Savannah learned of an English tramp vessel being in distress, but as she refused to give her position the City of Savannah could not go to her rescue. When he landed at Rotterdam Mr. Meares found that it was snowing. He reports that he had a very pleasant voyage all the way across.

BEAUTIFYING SQUARE

Sorosis Has Charge of Improvement of Postoffice Plat in City.

The front side of the Postoffice Square is being beautified by the planting of flowers and shrubs, this being under the direction of Sorosis. The improvement will make this one of the most attractive spots in the city.

Each year certain citizens interested in beautifying the city contribute a fund to be expended by Sorosis where it is thought that it is most needed. This year the money is being spent on the Postoffice Square and at the Hemenway School. The money is donated and is not solicited by members of Sorosis.

SISTER DIES AT CHADBOURN

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Haskett Bereaved —Was Good Christian Woman.

Mr. C. E. Haskett returned yesterday from Chadbourn, where he and Mrs. Haskett were called Thursday night on account of the death of Mrs. Haskett's sister, Mrs. Sallie S. Inman. The funeral was held at that place Friday afternoon. Mrs. Inman was 48 years old and was a consecrated Christian woman, having for many years taken a prominent interest in the work of the Methodist church, of which she was a member.

Surviving the deceased are the following children: Messrs. Stanly, Carl and Joseph Inman and Misses Jessie, Annie, Ruth and Sadie Inman.

BISHOP DARST TO PREACH.

Choir Will Repeat Easter Music at St. James' Church Today.

In his official capacity as Bishop of the Diocese of East Carolina, Bishop Darst will be at St. James' Episcopal church this morning and will conduct the morning services. A class of seventeen will be confirmed as members of the church. This will be the first time that Bishop Darst has visited this church in his official capacity.

The impressive Easter music which was sung last Sunday will be repeated by the choir this morning. The public is cordially invited to attend.

REVIVAL CLOSES TONIGHT

Many Additions to Christian Church During Series of Services.

The revival which has been in progress at the Dock Street Christian church for the past two weeks will close tonight. Fifty persons have united with the church during these meetings and many others are expected to join today.

Evangelist John H. LeGrand, who has been conducting the meetings, will speak at the morning service on "Sonship" and at the night service on "Where Will You Spend Eternity?" The ordinance of baptimism will be administered at the close of the evening service.

NEGRO INJURED BY AUTO

Mr. T. A. Green, Jr., was Running Machine—Reckless Driving Charged.

Albert King, a colored boy, 11 years old, was run over and seriously injured by an automobile, which was being driven by Mr. T. A. Green, Jr., yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at Third and Market streets. The negro was taken immediately to the James Walker Memorial hospital and his condition early this morning was regarded as critical. He suffered a severe cut in one of his eyes, causing serious complications.

Young Green was placed under arrest by Policeman E. M. Sessoms on a charge of reckless driving and gave bond in the sum of $1,000 with his father as surety.

CAROLINA LOSES FIRST OF SERIES TO VIRGINIA

Four Thousand People Witness Game at Greensboro.

Carolina Makes Two Runs in Final Inning; Virginia Gets One in 1st, Three in 3rd and One in Sixth.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Greensboro, N. C., April 10.—Virginia won from Carolina before a crowd of 4,000 people at Cone Athletic park this afternoon by a score of 5 to 2. This was the first of the season's games between the two great rivals. Long before time for the game to be called, the grandstand and bleacher seats were filled with visitors and students of the State University, the State Normal College and Greensboro College for Women.

When the contest commenced people were crowding the foul lines and spreading over the outfield. The white and light blue of Carolina predominated, but the Virginia colors were considerably in evidence. The crowd was enthusiastic from start to finish, and was notable for the fact that there was no evidence of intoxicants nor any sign of bitter rivalry. Not a single accident or untoward incident was recorded. The crowd was probably a little larger than any that has heretofore witnessed the annual meet here.

The game was featured by Drummond, pitching for Virginia, who held his opponents almost hitless and entirely scoreless until the ninth; the batting rally of Carolina in the last frame,and the splendid work of Lewis at third base for Carolina, and Paschall at second base for Virginia in fielding. Pope, Carolina's first sacker, also played star ball.

Virginia started off well at the bat. Paschall, first up, singled, went to second on errors, and he and Berkley scored on Pheely's drive. In the third, Paschall took a base on balls, White singled, scoring Paschall, Pheely also walked. N. Smith sent one into the crowd for two bases and two men on bases scored. Shields, who had been doing the pitching for Carolina and was in bad form, was then relieved by Williams, who held the visitors well in hand, allowing only one run in the sixth, when Stickley led off with a double and scored on Drummond's single.

The great feature of the game was the rally of Carolina in the ninth, when the only two runs were made, and these after two men were out. They were obtained on Bailey's double, Edgerton's single, followed by Honig's and Patterson's singles.

Carolina .....000 000 002—2 7 2
Virginia .....013 001 000—5 9 2
Shields Williams and Woodall; Drummond and Ehrman.

BUFFALO DEFEATED BY BROOKLYN IN OPENER

Ragged Three-Hour Game May be Thrown Out.

Kansas City Loses First to Pittsburg. Newark Defeats Baltimore—Chicago Takes Victory from St. Louis—Features.

Brooklyn, April 10.—Brooklyn defeated Buffalo 13 to 9 in a ragged game before a big crowd at the opening of the Federal League season here today. The contest dragged along for more than three hours. It is considered probable that the game will be thrown out, as Grover Land, of the Brooklyns, after batting for Upham, was taken out to let Howard run for him, after which Land donned the mask and finished the game behind the bat.

Manager Lee Magee, who was put out of the game in the first inning for protesting a decision, explained that Watson was to have relieved Simon, but as the former had a sore finger it was found necessary to put Land behind the bat.

Buffalo .....100 314 000— 9 10 4
Brooklyn .....015 020 23x—13 14 5
Bedient, Schultz, Ford and Blair; Seaton, Upham, LaFitte and Simon and Land.

ALLEN, FOR PITTSBURG KEEPS HITS WELL SCATTERED

Kansas City, April 10.—Allen, pitching for Pittsburg, kept his hits well scattered today and the Kansas City Federals lost the first game of the season 3 to 0. Konetchy hit a home run in the fifth, scoring Mowrey and Berghammer ahead of him. President Gilmore, of the Federal League, was given an ovation by the largest crowd that ever attended a Federal League game here.

Pittsburg .....000 050 111—8 9 0
Kansas City .....000 000 000—0 7 5
Allen and O'Connor; Main, Packard and Easterly.

NEWARK MAKES HER DEBUT IN FEDERAL LEAGUE WINNING

Nowark, April 10.—Newark signalized its entry into the Federal League by defeating Baltimore here today 7 to 5. Ten hits were made off Quinn, who was relieved by Smith in the eighth inning. Falkenberg was effective except in the first and seventh innings. Governor Goldsborough threw the first ball into the diamond.

Newark .....031 002 001—7 13 2
Baltimore .....200 000 300—5 8 2
Falkenberg and Huhn; Quinn, Smith and Owens.

EDDIE PLANK IS VICTIM OF EIGHTH-INNING BATTING RALLY

Chicago, April 10.—Eddie Plank, making his debut as a Federal Leaguer, was the victim of an eighth inning batting rally which gave Chicago three runs and a 3 to 1 victory over St. Louis in the opening game today.

St. Louis .....000 010 000—1 4 0
Chicago .....000 000 03x—3 7 1
Plank and Hartley; Hendrix and Wilson.

SHEPARD COMES BACK AND WINS FOR WILMINGTON HIGHS

Exceptionally Brilliant Pitching Defeats Donaldson 7 to 0.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Fayetteville, N. C., April 10.—Norman Shepard, after being unmercifully pounded by the Donaldson Military School and driven from the box by the cadets yesterday afternoon, came back in magnificent style today and defeated the same team with a no-hit no-run performance. The score was 7 to 0 in Wilmington's favor.

Only three Donaldson men reached first base during the game. One of these got on by means of an error, one was handed a base on balls, and the third was given first by a fielder's choice. Shepard's pitching, especially in the light of the terrible 22 to 7 beating administered to him and Johnson yesterday, was exceptionally brilliant—perhaps the best that has ever been shown here by a school pitcher. And this includes competition with past performances by boys who are today pitching for the best college and minor league professional teams in the country.

It was a remarkable pitching game all round. Currie, who twirled the whole game for Donaldson, allowed seven hits and seven runs in the first two innings and then settled down and for the balance of the game pitched no-hit ball himself. Not a hit was allowed by either pitcher after the second inning and only three men reached first base during the last seven rounds. Shepard and Currie each struck out 14 batters. Score by innings:

Wilmington .....520 000 000—7 7 1
Donaldson .....000 000 000—0 0 4
Shepard and Twining; Currie and Wells.

Trinity College, N. C., April 10.—Of the 108 points in dispute in the field day exercises here between Elon College and Trinity, Trinity won 98. The visitors failed to lead out in any event, getting their ten tallies from two seconds and four firsts.

LUMBERTON DEFEATS PARKTON.

One of the Best Played Games Ever Seen at County Seat.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., April 10.—Lumberton defeated Parkton here yesterday in one of the best played games of baseball ever seen on the local grounds. The score was 6 to 3. The feature was the pitching of Plummer, of Lumberton. He fanned seven of the first nine to face him and 16 for the game.

Parkton .....000 110 100—3 3 2
Lumberton .....001 130 00x—6 8 1

A. & M. WINS OVER WAKE FOREST IN TRACK MEET.

Wake Forest, N. C., April 10.—Showing up strong in all of the long distance events and winning first place in all of the hurdles and all in the dashes except the 220, A. & M. experienced little difficulty in winning the first meet of the season from Wake Forest today by the decisive score of 72 to 45.

A. & M. took all three places in the two-mile, one-mile and half-mile. They showed up almost equally as well in the dashes and hurdles, taking first place in all but the 220, Harris finishing first for Wake Forest.

In the pole vault, hammer throwing and broad jump, Wake Forest was much the superior of its opponents, taking first place in all three.

Gasoline Launch Burned.

A handsome gasoline launch belonging to Mr. Louis Hanson, Jr., was burned early last evening at the foot of Dawson street. The boat burned to the water's edge and then sank. It was of the cabin type, and was valued at about $1,500. The fire is supposed to have started from sparks from a stack nearby. The fire department was called to the scene, but could do nothing to save the launch.

Baptismal Service Tonight.

There will be a baptimismal service at the Sixth Street Advent Christian church tonight. There are between 15 and 20 candidates for admission into the church. Elder J. P. King, the pastor, will preach a special sermon this morning. There will be special music by the choir and orchestra at both services. The public is cordially invited.

10,000 PEOPLE ATTEND COUNTY COMMENCEMENT

Biggest Educational Event in the History of Robeson.

Lumberton Never Before Had so Many Visitors—Dr. W. L. Poteat Heard —Election Postponed—Snow on Ground Six Days.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., April 10.—Robeson's first county commencement, held here yesterday, was pronounced the greatest success, in every way, ever pulled off in the county. Never before did Lumberton have so many visitors on any occasion. Each and every community in the county entered into the spirit of the occasion and helped to make it a huge success, every person doing his or her part in making the day one long to be remembered with pleasant recollections.

There were many and varied estimates as to the number of people here, and while one who is accustomed to attending gatherings of the kind estimated the number at 15,000, the writer is of the opinion that a conservative estimate would be 10,000 people on the streets of Lumberton yesterday. By actual count there were nearly 2,500 school children in the parade, but there should have been several hundred more, many of those who should have taken their places in the procession preferring to be among the reviewers. This is true as to Lumberton and it is supposed it is true as to other places. All schools in the county participating made a fine showing, and each and every teacher has a right to feel pround.

Dr. W. L. Poteat, president of Wake Forest College, was the orator of the day, and his address is spoken of as being one of power for good. Two brass bands, one from Bladenboro and the other from aFrkton, furnished music for the occasion, which added much to the pleasure and success of the day.

There was not a single incident during the day to mar the pleasure of any one. If there was a person who showed any sign of ever having taken a drink of whiskey, the writer has not heard of it. The railroads were all taxed to their utmost capacity, but the large crowds were handled like clockwork.

County Superintendent J. R. Poole, all the teachers, committeemen, parents, pupils, and every one interested, either directly or indirectly, should feel proud of the great success of the Robeson county commencement of April 9, 1915.

Five hundred of the students and citizens of St. Pauls were said to be here. It is said that most of the business houses in that town closed in order that the merchants and clerks might attend. St. Pauls has a population of something over 900, so that more than half of her people were in Lumberton, according to the statement of those who claimed to know.

Recorder's Court Finances.

Receipts show that up to March 4, when the recorders of Robeson county were put on salary basis, during the two years since these courts were established they have turned more than $6,000 in fines into the school fund and the fees have paid all salaries and expenses of courts, including stationery, and there is now a surplus of $23.20 to their credit. Besides this, the recorders' courts have saved the county much in many ways. The recent Legislature reduced the Superior Courts in Robeson four weeks, three criminal and one civil. Superior court cost the county an average of $300 per week, which would mean that this alone would cause a saving to the taxpayers of $1,200 per year. The fact that prisoners are give a speedy trial and not kept in jail and fed by the county means a saving of many dollars each year.

During this time only $854.28 in fines and forfeitures have been turned in from the Superior courts, while they have cost the county about $6,600.

The two weeks' term of Superior court, which convened Monday of last week, adjourned Tuesday of this week, after being in session eight days. It was expected that the full time would be taken up, but it was not required. The next term of court will convene May 10. That will be for two weeks, and will be a civil term.

Election Postponed.

The election which was to have been held here Thursday of this week to decide the question of selling the electric light plant to the Yadkin Power Company was postponed until May 11. It is said this was done to give the people time to do some more investigating. In the meantime, it is said that one of the Yadkin's most enthusiastic supporters has about come to the conclusion that it would be best for the town to wait before selling out.

The John T. Biggs Company, which occupied one of the Carlyle stores on Chestnut street while the repairs were being made to their store on Elm street, moved back this week to the old stand, the work having been completed. The building occupied by the Biggs company and Mr. R. R. Carlyle's "Ladies' Store" were badly damaged by fire some time ago.

April has made a weather record in this section that will long be remembered. Snow was on the ground the first six days of the month, and this was followed on the seventh day by a regular summer thunder storm. The last three days have been real spring weather.

From what The Star man has been able to see, he is of the opinion that clean-up week has been generally observed in Lumberton, and it surely looks good to see so many lots and yards looking nice and clean.

The drug stores were almost swamped with business yesterday, the crowds at times being greater than could possibly be served. They thought they were well supplied with ice cream, but the supply was exhausted before business got started good.

Miss Lizzie Caldwell, who had been spending some time in Wilmington for treatment, returned home this week looking unusually well. Her many friends are delighted at her return home.

Miss Elizabeth Wishart, who has been very sick for the past several days, is reported as slowly improving today.

Mr. H. E. Daly, who had been managing a clearing sale for Mr. L. H. Caldwell, left this week for his home in Indianapolis. From there he will go to San Francisco to visit the Exposition. Mr. Daly expects to return to Lumberton in the fall.

WHITEVILLE HAS RENOMINATED

Present Mayor and Whole Administration Without Opposition—Columbus County News.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Whiteville, N. C., April 10.—Whiteville's incumbent municipal administration has been nominated in toto, no opposition having developed at the primary just held and unless all signs fail will be re-elected Monday, May 3rd, for the second term. The only probable change may come in the office of chief of police, this having been made an appointive instead of elective office during the last General Assembly, and the present incumbent may qualify as one of the three rural policemen appointed at the same time.

About the most interesting and largely attended affair given in Whiteville lately was the spelling bee at the auditorium last evening, under the auspices of the Woman's Club. Apart from the spelling match, which featured the evening, were several numbers by the Imperial Quartette and readings by Mr. Geo. F. Mountford, both of which brought volumes of applause from the audience. Rev. J. H. Poteat, pastor of the First Baptist church, and Rev. J. H. Pate, pastor of the Methodist church, were captains of the two teams, the Methodists winning after a long test.

At the First Baptist church tomorrow evening, Mr. L. R. Varser, of the Lumberton bar, will make an address on "Organized Class Work". He will be the principal talker on the special Baraca-Philathea programme, to which all the Baraca and Philathea classes of the county and all organized Sunday school classes of the town have been invited.

Dr. James M. Northington, of Boardman, has organized a local camp of Sons of Confederate Veterans, who will go to the annual reunion to be held in Richmond, June 1, 2 and 3. Miss Kathleen Baldwin, of Whiteville, has been named by the commander-in-chief of the Tennessee division as one of the maids of honor at the reunion.

CLEAN-UP WEEK AT SOUTHPORT

Town to Be Given Thorough Cleaning This Week—Street Signs.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Southport, N. C., April 10.—Southport will inaugurate, beginning Monday next, the greatest "clean-up" week in its history. The entire week is to be devoted to cleaning up, both private premises and public places, and the promise is for a clean city, and its sponsors for the clean-up, the ladies of the Civic club, will endeavor that the inoculation spirit for cleanliness shall be thorough, so that the city shall be kept clean during the coming weeks and months. While next Monday is the time set for the start, there was a beginning made yesterday, by the pupils of the High school, who went after the rubbish about the school building, gathering and burning what could be burned.

At the school yesterday, the last hour was given to the pupils, their parents, and invited guests, a sort of civic patriotic meeting, when some excellent papers were read by pupils reminiscent of Southport's past, present and future, songs sung with words appropriate to the occasion and addresses made, the spirit prevailing being indicative of what may be expected next week, when the city gets a clean-up that will be real. In this clean-up week, the colored citizens have committees named to look after the work in their respective districts, the same as the whites.

The city authorities have entered fully into this clean-up movement, giving the city's carts to haul away rubbish.

Another important work entered into by the Civic club, also assisted in by the authorities and others, is that of having signs placed at the street corners, telling the names of the streets.

It has been said that during the summer months, Wilmingtonians, who have visited here, have said they could not find their way around because of this absence of street signs. This summer there can be no such complaint, for the new signs will enable any who walk to know on what street they are, and so avoid the possible danger of not being able to find their way about the city.

ONIONS GOING FORWARD

Ninety-Seven Crates Shipped From Faison at Once.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Warsaw, N. C., April 10.—The truck shipping season is beginning with large shipments of onions going forward to the Northern and Eastern markets each day. Ninety-seven crates of the vegetable were shipped from Faison, and are on the markets for the Saturday shoppers today, while several other towns in this section have shipped large quantities also, so that several hundred crates are being shipped each day, bringing the farmers an average of about $2.75 per crate.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Look Years Younger! Use Grandmother's Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur and Nobody Will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old recipe, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, and abundant.

ENDORSES PAY-UP WEEK

To the Editor of The Star:

Since the first tiding of Pay-Up Week, I have been hoping some gifted pen would plead the moral side of the subject. As I have waited in vain and time is passing "my heart burns within me" to plead the cause of the many who need the money owing to them.

I cannot understand how people with a degree of self-respect can make debts—I do not say with no intention of paying them; but certainly who make no effort to do so. This is a theme worthy of Sam Jones or Billy Sunday.

As The Star impressed us some time ago, there ought not to be the necessity of a pay-up week, but every week, or better still a "spot cash," policy should be our aim.

Did you ever observe the stream of people going in and out of the Grand and the Kress store? We all know it is cash there. Do we find the cash for water, electric lights, telephone and street cars? So we could if we made cash the standard and then restrict our desires to our ability to pay. We hear constantly surprising stories of cases in our midst of "good," church-going people who owe just debts.

A dentist told me of a family (one of our best) who owe him $100 and he has sent repeated pleas for some of the money at least. No attention was ever paid to the bills. In this case the father of the family has had fairly good salaries. They own their home, hire servants and come out in new clothes often. Of course, that dentist and others are noticing and commenting—but not to their faces.

There is a poor man in this town who has a delicate wife and little children. He is industrious and his wife does their work. There are high-class people who owe that man for turkeys and celery, etc. Those Highs must have delicacies, their tastes demand it. These poor people must be denied many common needs to pamper people who, as the wife remarked, "Wouldn't speak to me on the street." Take this to yourselves, each one who is guilty. This is no tale of fiction but FACT. If the people who owe money could (maybe they do) hear the tales which come to my ears, only occasionally, but from the accumulations of years, they would hang their heads in shame instead of holding them up in the pride of looking better than a shabby, but likely, more honest neighbor.

A family was obliged to move from a small town where they owned a house. The Blanks rented the house for $100 a year, but required $6 of repairs put on. There were four-grown people in the family. The young lady, always daintily dressed, must have a special wash woman for herself. Her nice clothes could not be thrown in with the others. Not one cent of that rent was ever paid. The desperate young mother wrote the older woman, hoping to touch the mother heart, pleading for some small amount even, to buy stockings for the little feet. Many times were those letters thought out in the late hours at night as the big holes in the little stockings were darned. The answer to the letter was polite excuses but no money.

There are cases which, if put on paper for the public, would raise a storm of indignation. But those individuals make some effort to get their money, then give up as the case may be so unprincipled, or else—people of such high social standing that to continue to urge them to pay what they owe "is insulting."

As the preacher in the pulpit points his finger at the sinners, now let the finger of Justice and Honesty point at and denounce everyone who owes a just debt—and I do not say, can pay and does not—but who dares to spend one cent for anything not absolutely necessary, until that or those debts are paid, and put on them the brand we do not hesitate to place on the person who picks our pocket or robs our house.

These lines are good to remember:

"To have money to buy all we want is riches, but to be able to do without is power."

The cause of the people "who are not paid" has been calling for a David to come out and slay the giant, not Debt but Dishonesty. It is a pity that those who might write a stirring appeal are indifferent, when to do it now might be to sow seed in plowed ground. In this, like politics, the best are not available.

People who owe debts cannot realize how others are talking about them and noting the new and costly apparel they don, when the people they owe must face the sneering public in shabby out-of-style garments.

Not long since a lady was proudly displaying a handsome skirt made by a tailor, remarking it was economy to get the best.

That woman owes, and for several years, a big bill, right here in town for her daughter's wedding clothes. And whose is this name? I fear it is "Legion."

I even hear that some people even fail to pay their trained nurse. Let me cast a little David-stone here and urge, not only payment, but prompt. Remember that we demand scrupulous cleanliness beside the gentle and intelligent attention and there is a constant laundry bill awaiting its settlement. Pay your trained nurses as promptly as you pay your cook and wash woman and you know you have to pay THEM.

Think of people working for their money and when compelled to ask for it, must make apology for doing so. The mere suggestion of this Pay Up Week being treated as "A Joke" is shocking. The main idea, as I gather from the few words in The Star, seems one man to pay another that the business interests may be sustained.

Like the dollar which was told about lately, paying three debts in a few minutes. Those men had no business owing that dollar. I'll venture to guess that all three of those debts were for things each could well have done without.

When we suggest to the merchants that we who pay cash ought to get a discount from the price they afford the others, the merchants coolly inform us they must make up on the cash what they lose on bad debts. Now, imagine our stinting to furnish the dishonest with luxuries!

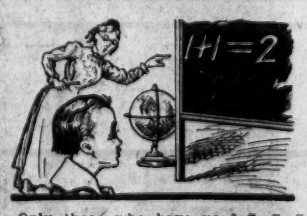
Many debts which are spoken of in pity are made just as the case of sickness, which are, or used to be called "dispensations of Providence" are brought on by one's own utter carelessness or selfishness.

Should there not be room for both, perhaps for this once, The Man in the Street, will give way for

"THE WOMAN IN THE HOME."

Curing Catarrh is A Simple Method

Go to its Source and the Cure Is Then Accomplished.



Only those who have used S. S. S. for the blood know that catarrh is simply a blood trouble.

Most people, uninstructed in this membraneous disease, treat their nose and throat as if catarrh was a local trouble. It is not so. To treat catarrh it is necessary to go into the stomach, the liver, the lungs, the kidneys and all the vital organs of the body. And it is S. S. S. that at once enters the entire blood circulation, all the organs of the body, all the mucous surfaces and becomes a dominant factor for renewed health. It is a simple method when you figure it out. Catarrh is plainly an inflammation of the mucous membranes.

And there is in S. S. S. certain ingredients which cause these mucous surfaces to change or convert their secretions into a substance for easy elimination. A special book on this subject will be mailed to all who write to The Swift Specific Co., 110 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Catarrh is very often the result of some other blood trouble, some germ that gets into the blood and multiplies beyond the control of nature.

S. S. S. is the remdy. Do not accept a substitute for this matchless remedy. Read the circular wrapped around the bottle. It is important.

DOING THEIR DUTY

Scores of Wilmington Readers Are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys.

To filter the blood is the kidneys' duty.

When they fail to do this the kidneys are weak.

Backache and other kidney ills may follow.

Help the kidneys do their work.

Wilmington people endorse their worth.

Miss Mattie Hodges, 609 S. Fifth street, Wilmington, says: "I had kidney trouble for years. My back ached and pained me all the time and on stooping, sharp pains shot through my loins. I had no strength or energy. The kidney secretions were dark in color and had a brick dust sediment. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Bellamy's Drug Store and they removed the troubles. I am better than I have been in a long time." (Statement given February 24, 1908).

OVER TWO YEARS LATER, Miss Hodges said: "Whenever I am not feeling well or have kidney trouble and backache, a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills remove the difficulties."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Miss Hodges had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Washington, April 10.—The Chamber of Commerce of Johnson City, Tenn., today complained to the Interstate Commerce Commission that rates to that point from Cincinnati, Pittsburg, Cleveland and other points are excessive and discriminatory compared with the rates from the same points to Bristol, Va.-Tenn.

Oil Treatment for Stomach Troubles

A simple prescription made up of a combination of pure vegetable oils is producing wonderful results for sufferers from stomach, liver and intestinal troubles. The remedy, which is said to have originated in France, where it has been used for years by the peasantry, was introduced into this country by George H. Mayr, a leading Chicago druggist, who cured himself of severe stomach, liver and intestinal troubles by its use. Those who have used it say the first dose is sufficient to convince any one of its remarkable merit, and that within twenty-four hours the sufferer feels like a new person. This medicine, which has become known as Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, is sold by leading druggists everywhere with the positive understanding that your money will be refunded without question or quibble if ONE bottle fails to give you absolute satisfaction.

Honest business has no cause to fear to go right into court and give a good account of itself.

Probably some of those Americans who are lingering in Havana are sports who bet their last dollar on Jack Johnson.

The best way to maintain your equilibrium is to walk a chalk line and make a home run at the hour when you are expected to hang up your hat for the night.

Probably the only difference between differing sections of a state is one of rivalry. Generous rivalry beats the indifferent sections of different sections of a state.

Wonder if any child will be prevented from observing "Go-to-Sunday-School Sunday" because some other child's father has failed to observe "Pay-Up Week."

Now they are saying that Constantinople must be captured by means of attack by land and sea. That would be awful but that seems to be the way it will have to be done.

"Of course, we must admit that we are unprepared for war," declares a Republican orator. Betcha if there were a war he'd be so unprepared for it he could not be pesuaded to enlist.

While you are paying up the merchant, don't forget that "little bill" you owe that father or mother who needs the money earned long ago to make ends meet in the household.

Florida is to have a state-wide prohibition tussle. Well, after it is all over, Florida will feel as if everything has been taken away from her but flowers, oranges, grapefruit and pineapples.

A Florida legislator has introduced an anti-nepotism bill. That is the kind of bill which immediately arouses the antipathy of large families which get into politics and take a fancy to as many offices as they can handle.

A married man says that owing to the "Go-to-Sunday-School" movement, he has decided to go for three good reasons—a good mother, a good wife, and a good mother-in-law. However, he says it was unanimously agreed that he should have a fishing trip if he could fix the date so all three could go along with him.

Says the Memphis Commercial-Appeal: "And now, in addition to taking an hour for each meal, Dr. Wiley wants us to walk two miles a day." That would be perfectly agreeable to most of us, especially if we could make sure of the meal without being under the immediate observation of the boarding house missus.

Everybody knocks the middle man but the middle man knocks as many as knock him, when he finds collections so slow that it is about all he can do to keep his head up as a middle man. "We must put the middle man out of business," says a Kansas paper. Well, we will finally succeed in doing it if he keeps on letting us have something for nothing. Some of us can get along without the middle man but the middle man can get along without as many as can get along without him. The middle man is no joke as often as it seems he is. Sometimes we are it unless we "pay up."

When business slows down and a rebound comes, the recovery is naturally a slow process. However, the rebound is here and the recovery is taking place at a good clip. Already a couple of million dollars in good roads bonds have been placed by North Carolina counties, and how much more will be invested in modern highways before the year is out, we cannot say just now. Exclusive of $6,250,000 of bonds for building roads this year, there are large municipal improvement issues, not to mention the large sums to be spent in construction and building operations. You see how the tide of good times is turning.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR WILMINGTON.

The rate at which a desirable class of immigrants and homeseekers are being brought into this garden spot portion of North Carolina is suggestive of a broad opportunity for Wilmington and the several towns and counties in this particularly desirable region. We mean the opportunity for practical co-operation between Wilmington and the people in the several counties so closely linked with this city in business and so immediately identified as a whole in progress and development.

We ought not to lose any time in following the organized plan of that New England town which has brought about a wonderful development of both the urban and the rural portions of a whole community-interest section. All the forces in the town and the country of that New England section entered into an alliance to carry out a plan to co-operate in the general welfare, agricultural, industrial and commercial.

We don't have to go very far away from Wilmington to see something like it in our own State. The "Sand Hill Country" is allied in a co-operative movement that is making the Sand Hills one of the most prosperous sections of the State. The Sand Hills chamber of commerce takes in all the counties in the near-central portion of the State, only a short rail run from Wilmington. It is a live community interest organization composed of farmers, business men and capitalists, and the results constitute one of the marvels of development in North Carolina.

Asheville is another center of just such a co-operative organization, taking in all the summer resort localities in the mountain region, easily the Switzerland of America. Big results have followed the co-operation of Asheville and the people of the North Carolina Appalachians. That's enough said. Two sections of North Carolina have been turning the trick for several years, and have big results to show for their efforts. Results are what count. Artemus Ward used to say, "I never argy agin a success."

As we have said, immigration is coming this way, and we certainly cannot have too many homeseekers to come into the Wilmington section for the more rapid development of this portion of the Nation's Garden Spot. Only a few days ago ten sturdy families came into this section from up north, and they are only the advance guard of many others who have made arrangements to follow just as soon as possible. Besides, other homeseekers have been brought into the Wilmington section during the fall and spring. Two Belgian colonies have been started, and they are close enough together to make neighborly visits easy.

Fortunately, this section has two settlement or farms companies, which are attracting a desirable class of settlers, and if Wilmington will organize a co-operative movement throughout all this section we will soon witness such a development as has been brought about in the Sand Hills country. Of course, we are taking a live interest in the development schemes around Wilmington and are encouraging them in an incidental or more or less direct way, but not in the Sand Hills co-operative way.

OPENING THE WAY FOR MORE FARM INDUSTRY.

The bureau of animal husbandry, State Department of Agriculture, has demonstrated that the beef cattle industry can be made profitable on North Carolina farms. The result of the experiments and observations of the experts were published in The Star a few days ago. A part of the report was an endorsement of the general proposition by Mr. Leonard Tufts, the Boston capitalist who has built up a splendid winter resort at Pinehurst, Moore county. In fact, Mr. Tufts largely supplied his hotels with native beef, fattened and slaughtered at home. That experienced hotel-man, who caters to wealthy epicures, gave a high testimonial as to the fine quality of North Carolina beef.

It all bore out the experiments made under the auspices of North Carolina's progressive Department of Agriculture. The test made by the bureau can be carried out by any North Carolinian to his own satisfaction, with the advantage over the experts that he can produce most of his cattle feed on his place and get the benefit of the fertilizer. The test showed a clear profit, on even expensive bought cattle feed, so that the economic side of the proposition is all in favor of the farmer who provides grazing for his cattle and converts his forage and feed crops into beef and milk and butter.

The industry, at its best, must embrace grazing, feed production and proper management. Even as a beef proposition, the industry will pay, yet there goes with it the dairying feature, so successfully demonstrated by a co-operative dairy company at Hickory, Catawba county. The creamery idea also is growing in Caldwell county, just beyond the Catawba river from Catawba county. The Lenoir Topic is encouraging a dairy side-line on the farms in Caldwell, and notes in this way how good dairy cows add to the profits on the farm:

"Until our county has enough cows to maintain a plant, our farmers will find it profitable to establish creamery routes and send the products to Hickory. In a recent interview with a gentleman from another county, we learn that he sold $636 worth of cream last year from about 10 to 12 cows. The skim milk was fed to his hogs, from which he realized $300 in cash, making a total of $936 received in one year from the business."

Be careful to note that keeping cows has its collateral feature in the production of pork. On a man's own farm he can raise his own feed, make his own cattle his customers, make his own meat and find a ready market for cream, butter and meat, all fitting nicely into a joint economic plan. Beef cattle can go along with the dairy feature, and time will demonstrate that there is no more ideal country than North Carolina for the livestock industry in all its kindred branches, one aiding the other on profitable lines.

That is the way to do it, and North Carolina must learn how to turn the trick. That is why the State Department of Agriculture is demonstrating the practical results of animal husbandry. It is opening the way for more farm industry in the State—a year-round activity and means of profit instead of a crop-season profit only, confined chiefly to a few months of real activity.

TAKING CARE OF GOOD ROADS ASSETS

Tift county, Georgia, has gone to the expense of constructing a system of good roads and is proceeding in a practical and systematic way to take care of them. The county has bought machinery to keep its roads in repair at a minimum cost, without taking chances on their deterioration or permitting them to get in such condition that they would almost have to be rebuilt. Ordinary methods of repairing roads after they have been allowed to suffer from storm and rain damage or erosion cost too much, so Tift proposes to use the proper machinery and save expenses as well as save the highways.

The progressive Georgia county is setting a splendid example. The repair machines will go over the highways once a month and keep them in thorough repair. That will save money for the taxpayers and the machinery to be so employed will prove to be a good investment for the people. The Savannah News says a large part of the very great annual waste of money on roads in Georgia is the result of failure of road authorities to keep them in repair. "To build roads," declares The News, "and then pay no further attention to them, is the essence of thriftlessness, and yet many thousands of dollars have been thrown away in Georgia in recent years in just that way."

That same kind of neglect prevails generally, even in North Carolina, but progressive county managements are becoming more attentive and methodical in the matter of taking care of their counties' highway assets, for assets are what good roads are. A good plan prevails in some Western sections along modern highways. Residents along each mile of highway are delegated to patrol their mile of road after each heavy rain or storm and promptly report any damage or needed repairs. Each keeps his mile of road under close inspection all the time, and in many instances the people of the neighborhoods are so deeply interested in the road through their section that they turn out and voluntarily repair flood damage. In some counties a section master is authorized to repair the damage and present a bill to the road commission.

Newspaper men are not afraid of the future in North Carolina. A half dozen new papers have begun publication in the last six months. To the list Wilmington contributes a neat eight-page weekly, the New Hanover News, published by the New Hanover Publishing Company. Mr. John P. Confer is editor and manager, and his paper starts off with a virility and breeziness that is refreshing. He says "the publishers, in starting a paper, do not wish to indicate that they presage any immediate return to normal business conditions or that there is likely to be a boom in business within the near future." Nevertheless, the publication manifests a confidence that speaks loudly for itself as to the outlook.

Some men wait for opportunity to knock, but when a fellow comes along and offers them an opportunity they back away and give it a knock because their confidence has not been restored since the war broke out in Europe. The rule now is to have confidence and judg-m-e-n-t, with the accent on the "ment," as the lamented Senator Brown, of Georgia, used to pronounce it.

Captain Theirichens, of the German auxiliary cruiser Prinz Eitel, which finally interned at Norfolk, is not likely to forget and laugh himself to death about the way he played hokey pokey with the Washington authorities and American newspapers which kept right on the job in their persistent efforts to peek into a flying filly's nest.

What has become of the old-time gentleman who wouldn't subscribe for a newspaper because he didn't "have time to read it" but would stop his neighbor returning from town, back himself up against his plow while his horse rested and take an hour of his own time and that of his fellow farmer in the grass season to hear "what's all the news?" Is he living yet?

CURRENT COMMENT.

Winston-Salem is a mighty tobacco town. Its supremacy in that hespect is strikingly presented by The Journal, basing its figures on the report of the collector. The Journal sets forth that "of the fotal of a little over $800,000 paid into the Federal Treasury by the tobacco industry of the entire district, the tobacco industry of Winston-Salem paid $759,243.54 against $71,453.70 paid by all the rest of the district. So that it is seen that if Winston-Salam were taken out of the western North Carolina district the business done by Uncle Sam's men would be so small as to make this district one of minor importance, instead of one of the strong districts of the Southern states." This is fine, but waiving aside The Journal's boast that "Winston-Salem is the industrial metropolis of North Carolina," we would like for it to tell us how great a part its town had in the creation of the $429.60 the collector took in as license tax from dealers in opium? The fact that dealers in one revenue district alone have been able to pay that sum for the traffic in opium, would indicate that the State of North Carolina stood very much in need of the Federal "dope" law which went into effect March 1. —Charlotte Observer.

It is proper, or at least permissable, to assume there will come a time some day when fitness to hold public office in Virginia will no longer be dependent on whether the candidate did or did not vote for statewide prohibition. This is not always going to be the dominant issue in our political controversies. In some glad tomorrow it will be possible to elect or reject a candidate for governor or for a seat in the General Assembly for some other reason than that he believes in prohibition or local option. But when? The people of Virginia who believe in the enactment and enforcement of rigorus prohibition laws are not going to credit perpetually the reiterated charge that all those who disagree with them as to method are potential that the main entry had little wrecked rescuers at that time developed crooks.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

SUNDAY SERVICES

A GREAT PLEASURE AND PRIVILEGE.

If this great privilege is not made a great pleasure it is high time to make it such. In order to make this we need to remember that God gave us the Sabbath for rest and calls us to find rest in Him. The rest is for the body that it may better serve God and man. It is for the mind that it may be sane and strong for the problems and perplexities of life. It is for the Soul that it may rest in God and rejoice in His Salvation and all the richness of Communion with God. That soul was made for God and cannot find rest apart from Him. This is our chief need. It is met in the worship of God.

DAUGHTRIDGE MAY COME

Lieutenant Governor Delegate of Post H to Convention in Wilmington.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rocky Mount, N. C., April 10.—Nothing was too good to present Lieutenant Governor E. L. Daughtridge by post H of the T. P. A. at their meeting and buffet lunch held last night at the Elks' club when officers were elected and delegates named to the next annual session in Wilmington. The lieutenant governor, who is an ardent T. P. A., and whose candidacy for the office of Governor has just been announced by friends here, was the subject of many commendatory remarks, was unanimously elected to the position of president of the post, and later he was unanimously tendered the representation of the local post at the annual convention to be held next month at Wilmington.

Try "GETS-IT," It's Magic for Corns!

New, Simple, Common-Sense Way.

You will never know how really easy it is to get rid of a corn, until you have tried "GETS-IT." Nothing like it has ever been produced. It takes less time to apply it than it does to read this. It will dumfound you, especially if you have tried everything else for corns. Two drops applied in a few seconds—that's all. The corn shrivels, then comes right off, painlessly, without fussing or trouble. If you have ever made a fat bundle out of your toe with bandages; used thick, corn-pressing cotton-rings; corn-pulling salves; corn-tensing plasters—well, you'll appreciate the difference when you use "GETS-IT." Your corn-agony will vanish. Cutting and gouging with knives, razors, files and scissors, and the danger of blood-poison are done away with. Try "GETS-IT" tonight for any corn, callus, wart or bunion. Never fails.

COURT REDUCES THE HARDWICK VERDICT

Amount Cut Down From $17,500 to $7,500.

Judgment for This Sum Signed Yesterday Afternoon—Court Adjourns for the Term—Much Work Was Accomplished.

A record-breaking term of Superior Court for the trial of civil cases came to a close yesterday afternoon—one week earlier than the date scheduled for adjournment. Judge M. H. Justice, who presided so efficiently, left yesterday afternoon for his home at Rutherfordton. Exactly 80 cases went off the docket in five days—court having begun Tuesday morning—and in addition orders were signed in many other cases.

A verdict for $17,500 in favor of the plaintiff in the case of H. H. Hardwick against the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company, returned by the jury yesterday morning, was cut down to $7,500 by Judge Justice yesterday afternoon, and judgment was signed for this amount. When the verdict was returned Thos. W. Davis, Esq., counsel for the road, moved to set it aside. This motion was argued yesterday afternoon. Judge Justice would not allow this motion, but he held that the verdict was excessive and reduced it to $7,500, on condition that the defendant would not appeal. To this counsel for the defense agreed and the judgment was signed for $7,500.

The suit was brought to recover damages for personal injuries in the loss of the plaintiff's left foot while in the employ of the Coast Line on the yards here February 4th, 1914, and the amount asked was $25,000. According to the complaint, the plaintiff was employed as a brakeman, was attempting to board an engine when his foot slipped, throwing him under the wheel of the engine and crushing his left foot so that it had to be amputated. Negligence on the part of the defendant was alleged allowing the footboard to become wet and slippery from water overflowing from the tank, and in ordering and commanding the plaintiff to board the engine at the time and place. The plaintiff was 23 years old at the time of the accident.

The case went to the jury about 11 o'clock and the body was out just a little over an hour. The following gentlemen composed the jury: C. P. B. Mahler, Jno. T. Hill, R. M. Grissom, G. Henry Haar, S. R. Keyes, M. H. Croom, Archie Fryer, C. H. Jones, J. I. Crews, C. L. Barnett, W. P. McGlaughon, Ed Bass.

The plaintiff was represented by W. F. Stacy, Esq., and Greer & Greer, of the local bar and Donald McRackan, Esq., of the Whiteville bar.

A report was made by the receivers of the Bank of New Hanover, showing receipts and disbursements from April 7th, 1913, to March 29th, 1915. Report was made that under authority of the court 4 per cent had been paid to creditors. Two life insurance policies aggregating $4,773 are collectable in June or July and an offer of $1,000 has been made for two policies on a man living in London and one on a man living in Wilmington, the three aggregating $3,807, which offer the receivers recommended be accepted.

Other verdicts, entries and orders yesterday were as follows:

Olivia E. Mott vs. Chas. R. Mott, verdict for divorce; Gertrude Cado vs. Albert Cado, verdict for divorce; Carrie L. Hancock vs. Lewis G. Hancock, verdict for divorce.

A. C. L. R. R. Co., vs. Franco Ottoman Shipping Company; Wilmington Railway Bridge Company vs. Franco Ottoman Shipping Co., et al.; Seaboard Air Line Railway vs. Franco Ottoman Shipping Co., orders allowing defendants to May 1st, 1915, to file answer.

Acme Manufacturing Co., vs. W. A. Simpkins, Willie Moore and Moore & Moore, judgment for $658.98 and interest from January 1st, 1915.

Horace Singluff vs. H. L. Stevens, judgment non-suit.

A. P. Whitehead, administrator, vs. Clyde Steamship Company, order for removal to Federal Court.

Wm. L. Smith vs. Chas. E. Walker, judgment.

Sterchi-Bancroft-Rich Co., vs. A. C. L. Railroad Co., judgment.

M. S. Hicks vs. M. C. Darby & Co., judgment.

Acme Manufacturing Co., vs. Ricks Bryan Co., judgment.

Pittsburg Steel Co., vs. Thos. B. Long & Co., judgment $802.88 and interest from April 20, 1912.

Berry Tremain & Co., Inc., vs. Frank Buell, judgment $1,500 and interest from July 16, 1914.

Mercantile Security Co., vs. Frank Buell, judgment $2,500 and interest from July 8th, 1914.

J. G. Kares vs. S. Karonetchi, nonsuit.

Kentucky Horse & Mule Co., vs. L. P. Gordy, judgment.

J. J. Hopkins Sons & Co., vs. Fisheries Co., et al., three separate cases, dismissal.

American National Bank vs. C. D. Weeks, et al., alias summons.

City of Wilmington vs. R. F. Holmes, discontinued; A. G. King vs. Fidelity Trust & Development Co., time to file pleading; City of Wilmington vs. Fidelity & Deposit Co., and Southern Construction Co., 30 days to file complaint; City of Wilmington vs. M. J. King, discontinued; D. O'Connor vs. Margaret Cox, et al., order; Acme Manufacturing Co., vs. Copeland Bros., nonsuit; Acme Manufacturing Company vs. L. J. Ellis, judgment; City of Wilmington vs. J. E. Green, et al., order.

Many favorable comments upon Judge Justice's methods of conducting court were heard among the members of the bar and others around the court house. He works quietly and without any appearance of haste or high pressure, but somehow he manages to keep everything going at high speed and an enormous amount of work was turned out at the term just closed.

BEFORE THE RECORDER

Peter Barnhill, Colored, Gets Sixty Days for Making Escape.

Peter Barnhill, colored, who was charged with assisting another convict in making his escape from the county roads, was given an additional 60 days on the county roads by Recorder Empie yesterday. Lizzie Edwards and William Armstrong, both colored, were each taxed with the costs for ebing disorderly. John Thomas, colored, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, was found not guilty.

MR. CHARLES W. YATES DIED LAST EVENING

Had Been in Failing Health for Several Years.

Prominent in Business, Social and Political Life of the City for Past 40 Years—Confederate Veteran.

In the death of Mr. Charles W. Yates, which occurred at a quarter past eight o'clock last night at his home, No. 110 North Fourth street, Wilmington loses one of its most estimable and most lovable citizens. Like the quiet of the evening of the beautiful spring day on which the end came, his life was typical of that day and its close was none the less peaceful and serene, he having been surrounded by all members of the devoted family and friends to whom he remained faithful through all the time.

Mr. Yates had been in failing health for several years and on more than one occasion has consulted the highest medical authorities of more than one of the larger cities North, returning to his home in this city a little less than a year ago from Baltimore, where he underwent an operation that for a time gave promise, but later proved unavailing. Practically since that time he had been confined to his home where it was his pleasure until shortly before his death, to meet his friends and converse with them, always in that cheerful frame of mind and that agreeable disposition which was ever one of his strongest characteristics in life. He never despaired, never complained, and always met the dispensations of Providence with that same calm, quiet manner that had always been his. For several weeks it had been known that Mr. Yates' condition was critical, but until yesterday hope had not been abandoned and it was thought that with the coming of spring, he might rally and still be spared to his family and friends.

All during yesterday, hearing that his condition was growing more serious, many friends called at the home by telephone to inquire of him and after announcement of the death, hundreds called at the home to pay their respects and to be of any assistance that they could to the bereaved ones. Arrangements could not be completed for the funeral last night, but these will be announced later.

Mr. Yates was born in Guilford county, N. C., September 11th, 1839, and was, therefore, in the 76th year of his age. He had been a resident of Wilmington for more than forty years and no man in the city enjoyed a greater measure of respect and esteem than did he. He was remarkably active until the last and always took a lively interest in the affairs of his town and community. Quiet and unobtrusive, he was nevertheless a man of strong convictions and positive opinion. He made warm friends and lasting ones, his counsel was always wise and his friendship was accounted a safe asset by anyone who enjoyed his confidence and esteem. He was absolutely without affectation or pretense, strictly honest in his bearing, and in all his dealings with his fellowman there was not a finer type of the man of high character and strict probity.

Early in life Mr. Yates removed from Guilford county to Rockingham county, this State. In 1860 at the outbreak of the War Between the States, he at once threw his lot with the Confederacy and enlisted in 1862 in an independent cavalry company, organized from several counties, which later became Company E, of the Forty-first regiment, North Carolina troops. During nearly the whole of his service he acted as courier for Col. John A. Baker and his successor, Col. Roger Moore. Among the cavalry engagements in which he took part were those at Newbern, Kinston, Hanover Court House, Reams Station, Ashland, Chaffin's Farm, Drewry's Bluff and Petersburg. He was slightly wounded in the skirmish near Kinston and just at the fall of Newbern, in June, 1862, he was captured and imprisoned in jail at that place, subsequently making his escape several months afterwards, although held nearly two months at Governor's Island and Fort Delaware, where he was at length exchanged. During the retreat at Appomattox Court House he was again captured in the Namozine church, April 6th, and after that was a prisoner of war at Point Lookout until June, 1865, near the close of hostilities.

Mr. Yates came to Wilmington in 1870 and had been in business here ever since. His first business connection was a member of the firm of Conoley & Yates until in 1875, when the present firm of C. W. Yates & Company was formed with Mr. DeWitt C. Love, the firm having long conducted the leading book and stationery store in the Carolinas. Mr. Yates and Mr. Love were associated closely in business as active partners for nearly forty years and no one expressed himself last night in higher regard for Mr. Yates than did Mr. Love. They have built up one of the most successful mercantile enterprises in the State and for nearly half a century their business relations have been the most cordial as well as the most successful.

Although never seeking office and being retiring in his disposition, he was called upon to serve his ward as a member of the Board of Aldermen one or more terms and when the Board of Audit and Finance of the city government was established to handle the financial affairs of the municipality, Mr. Yates was chosen for successive terms as a member from the Second ward. He gave to the city that fine business judgment and ability that made him so successful in his own affairs and no man ever went out of office with a greater degree of public approbation.

Mr. Yates was one of the oldest members of St. John's Lodge No. 1, A. F. & A. M., and had been at various times a member of other business and social organizations, including Cape Fear Camp No. 254, United Confederate Veterans. Although never coveting such distinction, he had been called prominently into the commercial life of the city and was one of the most prominent men financially in Wilmington. He was at the time of his death and had been since its founding 25 years ago, president of the North Carolina Home Building Association, while he was also a director in the Murchison National Bank, a director of Delgado Mills, a director of the Cumberland Savings & Trust Co., of Fayetteville, and vice president of the Willard Bag & Manufacturing Co., of this city, besides being prominently identified with practically every other large business enterprise in the city.

Mr. Yates was preceded to the grave by his beloved wife on December 18th, 1911, and there are now surviving of the immediate family one daughter, Mrs. John C. Wooten, of Raleigh; two sons, Mr. Jos. W. Yates, of this city, and Mr. C. W. Yates, Jr., also of this city, and two sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Whittington, of Groomstown, N. C., and Mrs. T. J. Williams, of Wilkesboro, N. C. Mrs. Wooten, accompanied by Mrs. James Atkinson, of Raleigh, a niece of Mr. Yates, arrived on the train from the North yesterday evening in response to announcement of the critical turn in the condition of Mr. Yates. All the bereaved ones have the great sympathy of a host of friends here and elsewhere in the deep grief they have sustained.

As stated above, the arrangements for the funeral of Mr. Yates will be announced later.

TICKET FOR PRIMARY NOW STANDS COMPLETE

Mayoralty Race Between Moore and Wood

City Board of Elections Passed on Candidate's Petitions Yesterday Afternoon—Total Registration is 3,072.

The ticket for the municipal primary to be held Tuesday, April 20, is now complete, the City Board of Elections having officially passed upon the petitions and certificates of the several candidates at a meeting held in the mayor's office at the City Hall yesterday afternoon at 6 o'clock. Under the law, candidates are required to file their petitions at least 10 days preceding the primary, so that the lists are now closed. The following are the names to appear on the ticket:

For Mayor.

Parker Quince Moore, the incumbent.
T. W. Wood, Councilman from the Second Ward.

For City Council.

First Ward—W. J. Jones, Esq., the incumbent; J. F. Sellars and W. C. Boesch.

Second Ward—W. W. Hodges, John H. Niggel, Jr., John R. Hanby, E. H. Munson and Louis M. Bunting.

Third Ward—B. A. Merritt, the incumbent; J. A. McNorton, Esq., John H. Beery.

Fourth Ward—D. N. Chadwick, Jr., the incumbent; James M. Hall.

Fifth Ward—Charles C. Loughlin, Esq., the incumbent; W. J. Bradshaw, W. G. Hatch, J. B. Fales, W. R. Kingsbury.

Sixth Ward—W. D. McCaig, the incumbent; J. Haughton James, W. A. Woods and J. A. Everett, Jr.

With only two candidates for mayor in the race, it is a practical certainty that the matter will be settled in the primary. Under the amended law now governing, each voter, in the primary, votes for two candidates for Council in his ward, but votes for only one candidate for Mayor, and the Mayoralty candidate getting a majority of the total vote cast goes into the election without opposition. The two candidates for Council in each ward who receive the highest votes in the primary are voted on in the election.

Very Large Registration.

The total registration for the primary is 3,072, or just 850 more than the total registration for the charter election March 30. The books closed last night at 9 o'clock, and reports from the six wards give the following registration figures:

First Ward	428
Second Ward	597
Third Ward	469
Fourth Ward	425
Fifth Ward	827
Sixth Ward	326

By reason of the many candidates and with a continuation the next ten days of the active campaigning that has been going on for the past several weeks, it is expected that the greater number of those who have registered will vote in the primary, and some close fights are predicted in the several wards.

Flurry Yesterday.

The question of just when the time for a candidate to file certificate of candidacy with the Board of Elections, raised yesterday, caused quite a little flurry for a time. Rumors were to the effect that one candidate had declared that the time for filing petitions was up to midnight Friday, and this caused some excitement, especially in view of the fact that Councilman Wood had not filed his petition up to noon yesterday and several candidates for Council had not handed in their petitions until yesterday morning.

A meeting of the Board of Elections was called for 6 o'clock at the Mayor's office to check over the petitions and announce those properly filed. Chairman C. W. Woodward presided at the meeting, and Messrs. J. J. Loughlin, E. W. Haselden, W. N. Harriss and John Haar, the other members, were in attendance.

Major W. N. Harriss brought up the question as to when the day was to be considered officially ended, at 6 p. m., or at midnight. After some discussion, it was decided to hold that the day ended at 6 p. m., and to proceed with the checking of the petitions on hand. These included those of all candidates who had announced themselves, so far as known. Mayor Moore's petition was signed by 150 names; Councilman Wood's by 105 names and those of the several candidates for Council by anywhere from 28 to 50. At least 100 signatures are required to the petition of a candidate for Mayor, while 25 are required of a candidate for Council.

There were evidences yesterday morning of a belated but determined effort to get out a third candidate for Mayor, and the name of Mr. W. A. French was being discussed all during the morning as a possible candidate. Many of his friends and acquaintances urged him to make the race, but he declined to consider the matter on the grounds that it would involve too great a personal sacrifice.

The campaign will now narrow itself down along definite lines, and it is expected that the next ten days will witness some strenuous political activity.

In Justice Harriss' Court.

H. C. Ikes, white, charged with jumping a board bill, was found not guilty by Justice Harriss yesterday. Judgment was suspended upon payment of the costs in cases against Frank Hines and Walter Padrick, two white boys, charged with the temporary larceny of a boat. Martin Edwards, colored, charged with false pretense, was discharged. King Brown, colored, charged with non-support of his wife, will be tried Tuesday.

GO TO SUNDAY SCHOOL AT SOME CHURCH TODAY

Wilmington City Association Extends Cordial Invitation

More Than Two Score Churches to Join in Observance—Several Months of Active Preparation by Superintendents.

With fair weather forecasted for today by Observer Felger, the observance of Sunday School day by more than two-score Wilmington churches today will no doubt result in a record breaking attendance for all the Sunday schools. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend some Sunday School today. While this holds good for every Sunday, a special effort has been made to secure as large attendance today as possible.

The movement for the observance of a Sunday School day by the churches of the city was inaugurated several months ago by the Wilmington City Sunday School Association. An extensive campaign has been conducted both in the public press and by distribution of circulars and posting of placards in order that everybody may know that this is Sunday School day.

The City Association was organized a little over a year ago at the suggestion of the Ministerial Association. It has since that time been working on various plans for the enhancement of the usefulness of the individual schools and to bring about a spirit of co-operation among all of the schools that are members of the organization. Until recently there were 22 Sunday Schools identified with the association, but with the recent enlargement of the city limits two new schools at Delgado have been added, so that the association now has 24 members.

Following are the names and location of the churches and the hour for services of the different Sunday Schools of the city that will observe Go-to-Sunday-School day:

St. Andrew's Presbyterian, Fourth and Campbell streets, 3:30 p. m.

Calvary Baptist, Fourth and Brunswick streets, 3:30 p. m.

Bladen Street Methodist church, Fifth and Bladen streets, 3:30 p. m.

St. John's Episcopal church, Third and Red Cross streets, 4 p. m.

St. Matthew's Lutheran, Fourth and Harnett streets, 3:30 p. m.

St. John's Episcopal Mission, Fourth and Hilton Bridge, 9:30 a. m.

Lutheran (colored), Sixth and Nixon streets, 3 p. m.

St. James' Episcopal, Third and Market streets, 3:45 p. m.

Grace Methodist, Fourth and Grace streets, 9:45 a. m.

First Baptist, Fifth and Market streets, 9:45 a. m.

TO OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY LATTER PART OF NORTH

Wilmington Odd Fellows Will Celebrate Founding of Order.

Wilmington Odd Fellows are planning for an elaborate celebration of the 96th anniversary of the founding of the order the latter part of this month. There will be celebrations held throughout the work. The joint committee from the Wilmington lodges will hold a meeting this week to arrange for the celebration.

The committee is composed of Messrs. L. L. Boon, chairman, Cape Fear Lodge; C. H. Hayes, Hanover Lodge; H. C. Beard, Wilmington; J. H. Swinson, Orion; T. G. Landen, New Hanover.

Delegates and alternates to the State convention which will be held in Hendersonville on May 8 have been appointed as follows:

Cape Fear Lodge—L. W. Moore, representative; L. L. Boon, alternate.

Wilmington—T. G. Landen, representative; A. G. Hill, alternate.

Orion—John M. Branch, representative; H. E. Walton, alternate.

New Hanover—S. A. Matthews, representative; R. P. Johnson, alternate.

CHAUTAUQUA TICKETS

Can Be Purchased at Y. M. C. A.—Low Prices for Season.

General Secretary Huntington reports that there is a big demand for season tickets for the Chautauqua which will be held in Wilmington during the week beginning on April 24. Those who subscribed for tickets last year will have to pay only $2 for a season ticket while for all others the price is $2.50, if they are purchased before the Chautauqua. After the first attraction is given the charge for a season ticket will be $3.

Dull, Faded or Lifeless Hair Can Be Quickly Restored to Its Natural Beauty

If your hair is anything short of perfect; if it is losing color, too dry, brittle, thin, or if the scalp burns and itches, you should immediately begin the use of Parisian Sage. The first application of this safe and alway reliable tonic removes every trace of dandruff, cools and invigorates the scalp and beautifies the hair until it is gloriously radiant.

Parisian Sage supplies all hair needs and does not injure either the hair or scalp. It contains the exact elements needed to make the hair soft and wavy, and to make it grow long, thick and beautiful. It is a delicately-perfumed liquid—not sticky or greasy—that can be had at R. R. Bellamy's, or any drug counter.

Parisian Sage acts instantly—one application stops the head from itching and freshens up the hair. You will be surprised and delighted with this helpful toilet necessity, for nothing else is so good for the hair and scalp, and nothing so quickly beautifies the hair, giving it that enviable charm and fascination. Parisian Sage is one of the quickest acting hair tonics known—inexpensive and easily used at home.

HIGHEST PRICE YET

Cotton Quoted at Nine and One-Eighth Cents Yesterday.

The high water mark for cotton was reached yesterday when the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce quoted nine and one-eighth cents a pound. It reached nine cents several days ago and the indications are that it will continue to increase in price for several days yet. Charleston quoted nine and a quarter cents yesterday, while Savannah quoted the same as Wilmington. There was also an increase yesterdy on the New York market for spot cotton, it being quoted at 10:15 cents, the highest previous price having been ten cents.

The increase in price is generally attributed to the fact that there will be a reduction of not less than 25 per cent in the acreage throughout the South this season. This is also in line with the general tendency for cotton to increase in price in the spring.

—Mr. S. A. Nathan has arrived from Kansas City, where he has been attending school, and will spend a few days here before going to Washington, N. C., for the summer.

JUST THREE MORE DAYS BEFORE THE CABARET.

It's just three more days before the Cabaret to be given by the Cape Fear Chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy at the Boys' Brigade armory. Arrangements have been made for a most enjoyable time for the hundreds of people who will attend and there will be some attraction that will appeal to each and everyone. The affair will be on an elaborate scale and fully up to the standard set last year when in spite of heavy rain there were several hundred who braved the elements in order that they might have one evening of real, genuine, unadulterated pleasure.

There will be a charge of 50 cents for admission but that does not begin to indicate the amount of fun that one can have. There will be dancing throughout the evening with some special feature every 20 minutes. There will be a room for cards and rook and a supper of chicken salad and all the necessary appurtenances.

One of the speciat features of the entertainment to be given on the stage will be a little sketch, "A Pair of Lunatics," by Mrs. R. W. Barker and Mr. Thompson. There will be several musical numbers and demonstrations of fancy dancing.

The ladies appreciate the splendid patronage and hope to receive the same liberal treatment from the public this year. It will be worth while. Tuesday night is the time. The Boys' Brigade armory is the place. The hour is the earliest possible moment after supper. And the rest—well, the ladies in charge have been busy for three months.

UNIQUE ENTERTAINMENT AT LUTHER MEMORIAL BUILDING

On next Friday night, April 16th, there will be a "Living Picture Entertainment," in the auditorium of the Luther Memorial building, corner of Sixth and Princess streets. No admission is to be charged, but a silver offering will be received.

About 75 persons are to take part in the performance. They are to bring before the public the best known advertisements in living pictures, costumes as far as possible, identical with those shown in the different popular magazines and upon the larger bill-boards throughout the country.

After the performance a sort of bazaar is to follow for the purpose of distributing samples and advertising matter and for the sale of different products of manufacturers who have expressed a desire to take part.

So far, the chairman of the entertainment states, the idea has proven very popular wherever explained to manufacturers and bids fair to be a great success.

EVENING OF SPLENDID MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT.

Assisted by the High School Orchestra, Miss Pauline Crumb gave a most enjoyable recital of selections from favorite grand operas last evening at the Boys' Brigade armory before an audience of several hundred people. It was another demonstration of the fact that Wilmington has within her own borders musical talent of the highest order. The young men composing the orchestra rendered a half dozen selections, without the aid of director, with the sure skill of trained musicians.

Miss Crumb is a violinist of unusual technique and is able to play the most difficult music in a manner that appeals to the most discriminating. Her costumes last evening added much to the effectiveness of her playing. She is thoroughly familiar with every detail of her art and rendered all her selections last evening without the aid of notes of any kind, this enabling her the more easily to enter into the spirit of the music she was playing.

The orchestra is composed of the following young men: First violins, William Powell and Warren Saunders; second violins, Mark Noble and Jack Cranmer; 'cello, William Fenley; drums and traps, Armistead Mercer; piano, Eugene Craft.

Miss Crumb has been the director of the orchestra since its organization last fall. They have appeared on public occasions several times in the last several months and have shown steady improvement in their playing.

The programme for last evening was as follows:

Overture—Poet and Peasant (Suppe) —Orchestra.

"One Fine Day" from Madame Butterfly, (Puccini)—Miss Crumb and orchestra.

Selection from "Romeo and Juliette," (C. F. Gounod)—Miss Crumb and orchestra.

Cello Solo—"Evening Star" from "Tannhauser", (Wagner) — William Fenley and orchestra.

Selection from "Carmen", (Bizet)—Miss Crumb and orchestra.

Barcarolle from "Tales of Hoffman", (Offenbach)—Orchestra.

Selection from "Cavalleria Rusticana", (Mascagni)—Miss Crumb and orchestra.

Selection from "Rigoletto", (Verdi)—Miss Crumb and orchestra.

Miserere from "Il Trovatore" (Verdi) —Orchestra.

Selection from "Aida," (Verdi)—Miss Crumb and orchestra.

Selection from "Lucia di Lammermoor" (Donnizetit)—Orchestra.

Selection from "Bohemian Girl", (Balfe)—Miss Crumb and Orchestra.

MADAME VAN DE ZANT WILL SING AT CABARET TUESDAY

Madame Van de Zant, of Belgium, who came to this country shortly after the breaking out of the European war, sang a number of selections in the parlors of the Hotel Wilmington yesterday afternoon. There were more than a hundred present and all were delighted with her splendid voice. She will remain in Wilmington until Tuesday evening, when she will sing at the Cabaret to be given under the auspices of the Cape Fear Chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy. She will sing at a recital which she will give in this city in May under the auspices of North Carolina Sorosis.

She was accompanied to Wilmington by Mrs. Faison Peirce, of Warsaw, and they were guests yesterday at the home of Miss Sallie Bowden. She was the guest last night of Mrs. McDonald at Carolina Heights. Mrs. Peirce is the guest of Mrs. W. M. Creasy.

Miss Grace Dixon, daughter of Rev. Dr. A. C. Dixon, of London, accompanied them from Faison, where she has been visiting relatives, and is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. W. M. Shaw.

Madame Van de Zant will sing this morning at the Catholic church.

Madame Van de Zant is a French woman and has traveled extensively in Europe. She has appeared in recitals in France and other countries on the Continent. She possesses a wonderfully sweet voice and those who heard her yesterday declared that her singing was the equal of any that they have heard in recent years. Her husband is a business man, but upon the invasion of Belgium by the Germans found himself without funds or occupation. They came across to England and thence to America.

Mrs. Peirce in her introduction of Madame Van de Zant yesterday called attention to the striking fact that out of all the hundreds of refugees who have come to America that North Carolina should have been fortunate enough to secure one of the most noted singers of that little country.

Mrs. Peirce has visited in Wilmington frequently and is well known here, where she has many friends. She met Madame Van de Zant almost by accident and being impressed by the pathos and sadness in her face made her acquaintance. She carried her to her home, where she has visited for several days.

Madame Van de Zant gave a recital in Warsaw last week which was attended by a large audience. Her singing was one of the most notable events in musical circles in that place in recent years. Mrs. Peirce was determined that she should sing next in Wilmington and although she had invitations from other places came to this city instead.

Madame Van de Zant appreciates very much the cordial reception that she has had since she came to America. The hospitality of the people of this section has deeply touched her.

ANNUAL CAMPAIGN THIS WEEK

"War of Roses" to be Conducted by Y. W. C. A. Workers—Membership Contest for Three Days.

All students of English history are familiar with the War of the Roses. It derived its names from the fact that the followers of the House of York had white roses as their insignia, while the House of Lancasted chose the red rose as their emblem. It lasted 30 years and resulted in much bloodshed.

There's going to be a "War of Roses" in Wimington this week, but it will be entirely peaceful and will last for only three days. It begins bright and early Tuesday morning when one hundred young ladies of the Young Woman's Christian Association will start out on the annual membership campaign for renewals of old memberships and to secure new ones also. Miss Jennie Murchison will be general and she has two captains, these being Mrs. M. L. Stover and Mrs. George Peschau. Under each captain will be ten lieutenants and each lieutenant will have four members under her supervision.

The Wilmington association has 1,400 members, or twice as many as any other city in North Carolina. Of these 1,301 are charter members and it is hoped that every charter membership will be renewed. It is also expected that many new members will be secured.

The association has a number of sustaining members, the annual dues for this class of members being $5, and it is hoped that there will be a large number of new ones secured during the campaign. The sustaining members are entitled to no more privileges than those in the regular class, the charge for which is $1 a year, but it gives them an opportunity to contribute to a worthy cause. The charge for junior memberships which include all girls under 15 years of age is 50 cents a year.

The charge for a life membership is $100. Eighteen life members were secured last year and the money was placed in the bank to be used in the erection of a gymnasium. An effort will be made this year to secure at least seven life members in order that all the expense of the gymnasium may be secured from this source. If the workers are successful in doing this, the gymnasium will be erected as a memorial to those who contributed to the life membership fund. This will be a most fitting memorial as a gymnasium will provide a place for years to come where young ladies and girls may secure healthful exercises and recreation.

Two of the teams in the membership campaign will be composed of High School girls. To the girl from these two companies turning in the highest number of points a handsome association pin will be given.

An Even $3,000 Secured.

Enough subscriptions were sent in to the association supplementary income yesterday to bring the total amount up to $3,000. The campaign for funds was closed Friday night but there were many pledges which had not been returned. When all the reports for the day were in it was found that the total amount was $2,998 and a friend of the association promptly contributed another $2.

NEW CLOTHING HOUSE HERE

Fleet-Davis Company's Stock Bought by Palace Clothing Company, Chartered Yesterday.

The Fleet-Davis Company, one of the oldest and best known clothing firms in Wilmington, has sold its stock of goods to the Palace Clothing Company, a new concern which was yesterday granted a charter by the Secretary of State, and the new firm will proceed at once to close out the old stock and install a new and complete line of men's clothing and furnishings.

The incorporators of the Palace Clothing Company are Messrs. Joseph Schloss, vice president of the Kahn-Dreyfus Clothing Co., of New York; A. W. Goldsmith, formerly of Norfolk, Va., and E. I. Bear, of this city. The company has an authorized capital of $125,000.

Mr. Schloss is a former Wilmingtonian, and a brother of the late S. A. and Nathan Schloss. He came down to get the new business started off. He states that he sees much improvement in Wilmington, and believes there is room here for high class clothing and gentlemen's furnishing house carrying popular priced lines.

Mr. Goldsmith, who will be in charge of the new company, has been manager and buyer for the Hub Clothing Company, of Norfolk, one of the largest houses of its kind in Virginia, and is a man of experience and ability.

DIED.

In this city April 9, 1915, Ernest Victor Baltzer, only son of Herman Richard Baltzer, a noted financier and for many years, German and Russian Vice Consul of New York, and his wife, Martha Putnam Banta, also of New York. In 1893, Mr. Baltzer married Annie, daughter of Judge O. P. Meares, and she with a young daughter, survives him. Mr. Baltzer was born in New York August 7, 1864, and in his early childhood went abroad with his parents, studying for years in Dresden, Paris and Switzerland. Returning to this country he entered Columbia College from which he was graduated with honors. With a broad culture in art and literature he combined a rare knowledge of men and places, gained in his wide travels in many parts of the world.

He was a man among men, strong and upright with an unerring sense of right and wrong, courteous, kindly, sympathetic, giving of himself most generously, he made the world a happier and better place for having lived in it.

His earthly life has ended, the light of a clear, cultivated intellect is extinguished and a pure heart has ceased to beat on earth; but the life henceforth is eternal, the intellect rekindled by the everlasting glory and the pure heart worships before the throne of God. M.

STATE COUNCIL TO MEET HERE

North Carolina Daughters of Liberty Will Hold Convention Latter Part of This Month.

The North Carolina Council of the Daughters of Liberty will hold their annual convention in Wilmington on April 27th and 28th. The business sessions will be held in the Odd Fellows' building and the large social gathering will be held in the Junior Hall on South Front street. There are 160 local organizations represented by the Council and there will be a large number of visitors in attendance.

Among the prominent visitors who will attend will be: National Councilor Albert L. Bradley, of Richmond, Va.; State Councilor J. T. May, of Durham; former State Councilor J. N. Maxwell, of Salisbury; Mr. Matthew Kennedy, of Pennsylvania, and others.

The first session of the convention will be held on Tuesday morning, April 27th, and the visitors will be welcomed by Mayor P. Q. Moore.

The officers of the New Hanover Council are: Junior past councilor, D. G. Ellen; associates, Mrs. L. F. Congleton; councillor, Mrs. E. E. Russ; vice councilor, Hardy Lanier; recording secretary, L. F. Congleton; financial secretary, J. S. Eagle; guide, Miss Lillie Lanier; inside guard, Mrs. J. D. Harrington; outside guard, J. A. Rudisill; associate conductor, Miss Mary Clark; associate vice councilor, Mrs. J. A. Rudisill; treasurer, Miss Pearl Bryan; representatives, C. W. Craig, W. B. Register, Mrs. J. T. Ezzell.

The State officers are as follows: State councilor, J. T. May, Durham; State vice councilor, J. C. Kiser, Salisbury; State secretary, A. W. Cole, Burlington; State treasurer, W. D. Philips, Spray; junior past councilor, J. M. Maxwell, Salisbury.

MANY DEBTS ARE BEING PAID

Yesterday Was Big Day in Movement to Liquidate Indebtedness—Money is Circulating Freely.

The second day of the Pay-Up Week proved to be a hummer and money was circulated freely in Wilmington, although to be sure there are still lots of debts to be paid. However, before the week is gone there will be many accounts of long standing settled and nobody is going to be the worse off. The spirit is contagious and it is astonishing what yeoman duty a dollar can do when once it gets into circulation.

The little stickers provided by the Rotary Club to be pasted on dollars in order to show through how many hands it passes during the week are proving to be a popular feature and they are being used freely. These stickers are placed on bills with the name of the man from whom it was collected and as it passes on its journey through other hands other names are added so that at the end of the week those in possession of the bills can easily see just how many debts it has paid or has helped to pay.

While there was not a great rush to get on the honor roll, particulars of which were given in yesterday's Star, the spirit of the movement is being observed by many business men and others. Everyone who gets a dollar as a result of this awakening pledges himself to keep the money rolling.

Those who reported yesterday that they desired to be placed on the Grand Honor roll were as follows:

Clark-Lynch Lumber Company.
C. E. Clark.
H. A. Lynch.
J. S. Funchess.
Review Job Office.

Those who go on the honor roll agree to liquidate all their small city bills during the week. This does not mean those that have already done so, as some understood yesterday, but those who are ready to do this before the week closes. Doubtless the misunderstanding regarding the meaning of the honor roll kept others from reporting.

TO SPEAK TO THE BOYS

Rev. W. V. McRae Will Make Address at Y. M. C. A. This Afternoon.

WANT MORE UNIFORM PACKING

Wilmington Co-Operative Truckers' Association will Conduct Demonstrations for Growers.

At a recent meeting of the members of the Wilmington Co-Operative Truckers' Association the subject of grading and packing lettuce was discussed in detail and it was decided that a more uniform and acceptable system is an imperative need. After conferring with a number of commission men, it was decided to conduct demonstrations at each of the six branches of the association within the next two weeks in order that all growers may have an opportunity to learn just how lettuce should be packed for the Northern markets.

A resolution was adopted by the association thanking Mr. W. R. Camp, head of the division of markets of the North Carolina Agricultural Department, for his co-operation with the sales agent, Mr. C. E. Haskett, in finding new markets for lettuce and other trucking crops. Mr. Camp has performed valiant service and his work is greatly appreciated.

The association now has 107 members and the indications are that it will prove to be a most valuable means of securing better prices for lettuce. The outlook for good prices now is not so bright as it looks like the South Carolina growers are going to have their crops ready for marketing at about the same time as those from this section, but it may prove otherwise.

Real Estate Transfers.

THEATRICAL

That the component elements which have been utilized in the construction of Edward Peple's farce "A Pair of Sixes", which comes to the Academy of Music one night only, Thursday, April 15th, comprise equal parts of truth and fiction, is apparently established by the author himself, who declares that the prototypes of the principal characters in his play are none other than a pair of prominent business men of Richmond, Va., both of whom are life-long friends of the author.

Mr. Peple is a native of Richmond and resided there until he was sure of an income from his books and plays. His chief occupation was auditing accounts for the American Bridge Co. After "The Prince Chap", "The Spitfire" and "The Littlest Rebel" began to earn royalties he moved to New York and settled down in earnest as an author of plays and books.

Less than two years ago Mr. Peple hurried to Richmond to answer in person a telegram from each partner. Like the lawyer in his farce, he was called upon to settle a lot of petty disputes pertaining to the annual accounting of their business. He straightened them out, returned to New York, but in less than a month a long distance telephone message summoned him again to Richmond. Peple is usually a mild-mannered, modest and obliging man, but journeying to Richmond got on his nerves, so he decided to try and put his two friends on a fire-proof basis. He took their accounts and inventory in hand, divided them equally and started them off as competitors. When his work was completed the trio met at a club in Richmond one night and the conversation was naturally confined to matters pertaining to the business.

At dinner it occurred to Peple to wonder what might have happened had the two men disagreed as to the terms proposed in the dissolving of their partnership. Then Peple proposed a game of cards and his imagination began to work. Had he permitted his friends to gamble, he wondered, what would have happened to the business. Then Peple won a pot on a pair of sixes—not because he played a good game of poker, but with a hypothetical question working his imagination, he absent-mindedly forgot to draw cards; the other players thought he held a "pat" hand and when he did bet they all threw down good hands and Peple, much to his surprise, won a fairly good sized pot on a pair of sixes. From that point he employed the fiction which dominates the final scene in the first act of his play and developed, along a straight line, the story which is now being enacted.

When "A Pair of Sixes" was finished and ready for production is was submitted to H. H. Frazee by Mr. Peple and was accepted as soon as read.

Since its premier in New York last March its success has been so enormous that companies have been formed to present this rollicking farce at the Cort Theatre, Chicago; Wyndham's New Theatre in London; Her Majesty's Theatre in Melbourne, Australia, and a company to visit the various cities of the West.

In the company which will appear in this city are such well known farceurs as Oscar Figman, Orlando Daly, Jack Raffael, Mary Harper, Arthur Linden, Adelyn Wesley, Jane Meredith, Eleanor Fairbanks and Richard Earle.

Week at the Grand.

History making week is what this is going to be at the Grand Theatre, Wilmington's most delightful and favorite amusement resort. The mammoth list of superb film masterpieces scheduled to be flashed on the screen at the Grand this week will really mean movie history for Wilmington.

Six big reels will make up tomorrow's show; half dozen of the very best. Then following this glorious inauguration will daily be flashed a show that will immensely delight all. For instance, Tuesday besides offering the sixth episode of "Runaway June," the society film drama that has gripped the hearts of the Wilmington public and makes every Tuesday a gala occasion at the Grand, there will be a special two-part Vitagraph, "Roselyn," with clever, charming Naomi Childers in the title role. Laughs are also to be extra big on this day, as one of those famed Mina comedy film, this one being "Paste and Paper," is on the programme.

The mid-week is always an auspicious occasion at the Grand and this Wednesday will not be an exception to the rule. In fact, it will be even bigger than usual, as the Grand management has arranged to offer the big three-reel Essanay sensation, "Mr. Butles," and it is the superior of "Get Rich-Quick Wallingford," being a stupendous story of this type, though more of a novelty

Now Thursday is going to be some Red Letter Day, and you want to make mental note of it right now, so as not to make any previous engagements. Alice Joyce and Tom Moore are going to be seen in the most sensational and weirdly fascinating story ever made into movies, "The Mystery of the Sleeping Death," and Franklin Ritchie and Louise Vale will be on the screen in the Biograph's biggest and best, "Dwellers in Glass Houses."

Friday is always big, because it is "Zudora" Day, and also brings to the front the latest episode of the "Girl Detective Series," in which clever Ruth Roland is appearing. Added to this day's menu is going to be that delicious film morsel, "The Stage-Coach Driver and the Girl."

The week-end bill is going to make a glorious climax, with two big comedies, in which Madge Kirby, Dave Morris and Clarence Barr raise the dust in fun roles, and a special two-part sensation.

The Week at the Bijou.

Another week chock full of the very biggest things obtainable is in store for patrons of the home of "The Incomparable Movies," punctuated at frequent intervals with some of the very biggest features of all filmdom.

Tomorrow starts off with "Number 329", a great two-reel drama featuring Murdock Macquarrie and Agnes Vernon; a great two-reel Mutual drama, a single reel Mutual dramatic feature, and a big Nestor comedy with Eddie Lyons and Victoria Forde.

Tuesday will be presented another one of those great two-reel special feature Keystone comedies, "The Home Breakers," being a matrimonial comedy in screaming reels. Grace Cunard and Francis Forde also come in a great two-reel Oriental drama, "The Hidden City."

Wednesday will be inaugurated the greatest serial drama of all time, "The Black Box,"

Thursday comes Pauline Bush and William Dowlin in a great two-reel dramatic feature, "The Desert Breed," with a big two-reel Mutual dramatic feature, "In the Jury Room," a Keystone scream, "Caught in a Park," and a Nestor comedy, "In a Jackpot," with Eddie Lyons and Victoria Forde.

Friday brings again the "Exploits of Elaine," with the sixth great episode, "The Vampire," containing new and original thrills in every scene; also Cleo Madison and Joe King in a great three-reel Irish romance, "The Duchess."

Saturday—ah—we have our own Billie Ritchie again in a mammoth two-reel comedy scream, "Hearts and Flames."

ALASKA RAILWAY ROUTE SELECTED

Government Line to Run from Seward to Fairbanks

PART ALREADY BUILT

Federal Owned Railroad Will Serve Two Large Coal Fields and Open Up Country Not Served by Any Line.

Washington, April 10.—The Seward-Fairbanks route has been selected for the government railway in Alaska, Secretary Lane announced late today. The property of the Alaska Northern Railway Company from Seward over the first stage of the journey has been purchased for $1,150,000.

The government system, the statement adds, will include a 38-mile branch to tap the Matanuska coal fields. W. C. Edes is designated as chairman of the Alaskan Engineering Commission which will build the road by the President's order. The estimated cost of the entire system is given at $26,800,000. Congress provided not to exceed $35,000,000.

Secretary Lane said construction work would begin at once and that probably 40 miles of the extension of the Alaska Northern from Ship Creek would be completed this year. Construction will be carried on under contract, individual contractors building separate sections.

In one of the orders signed by the President the Alaskan Commission was instructed to guard particularly the health of the men at work and to adopt a system of compensation for accidents similar to that in force on the Panama Canal.

The Department's Statement.

The Interior Department in a statement said in part:

"The route adopted is known as the Sasitna route and extends from Seward, on Resurrection bay, to Fairbanks on the Tanana river, a distance of 471 miles. This route includes the existing Alaska Northern railroad, which runs from Seward through the Kenai peninsula, for a distance of 71 miles to Turnagain Arm. It is to be a standard guage road.

"The Alaska Northern has been purchased for a price less than its physical valuation, as estimated by the Alaskan Engineering Commission and by the engineers of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

"The President has made an order directing that the work be carried on by the Alaskan Engineering Commission. The members of the commission which consists of William C. Edes, chairman; Lieut. Frederic Meares, late superintendent of the Panama railway, and Thomas Riggs, Jr., are directed to proceed to Alaska at once. The chairman is to make his headquarters at Seward. Lieut. Meares is already on his way to Alaska. Chairman Edes and Mr. Riggs will soon follow.

"The first work will be the building of a wharf at Ship Creek and the dredging of a more adequate channel. From this point the railroad will be constructed northward to the Matanuska field. The probability is that not more than 40 miles of railroad can be constructed this year, owing to the fact that our appropriation is but $2,000,000."

Warns Against Stampede.

Secretary Lane's statement in part says:

"I have received word of a threatened stampede to Alaskn this season. The work to be undertaken by the government does not justify any such rush. I desire to advise those contemplating going to Alaska that there is little opportunity for their employment in Alaska at this time."

A Gigantic Project.

President Wilson's decision on the route of the proposed government railway through Alaska puts in motion the most extensive governmental railway project since the linking of the East and the Pacific coast by the trans-continental railway system. Like the latter, the new project has the two-fold aim of opening the way for pioneers and settlers in this new and almost unknown region of vast virgin resources, and at the same time providing an outlet for these resources to reach the seaboard and the trade routes to the Pacific states and the Orient.

The new project has the added problem of climatic conditions in this far-northern region, its short seasons, and a country of mountains and glaciers quite different from the plains across which most of the trans-continental route stretched. Already, however, the development of Alaska has dispelled much of the popular idea of a region of snow and ice, and has disclosed rich and fertile agricultural sections in addition to the boundless resources of coal, copper and other minerals, and fur-bearing animals. Thus far, private enterprise has devised the only means for penetrating this little known region, but now for the first time the government takes in hand the building and operation of a railway 1,000 miles long, running through the heart of the country.

President Wilson has before him an enormous amount of data on Alaska to aid in his decision as to which of the two proposed routes from Prince William Sound to Fairbanks should be followed. He had no recommendation from the Alaska Engineering Commission which made the investigation, however, the commissioners confining their report to a full statement of the facts regarding each route.

Since the bill appropriating $35,000,000 for the construction of the line was enacted last year, the commission has had hundreds of men at work locating and surveying along both routes. Additional information has been placed before the President as it became available and in anticipation of the beginning of work early in spring the commission has been making inquiries as to equipment available on the Panama Canal and on other government tasks and otherwise making ready to fling a well equipped construction army into the northern territory as soon as the President's decision was made known.

Each of the proposed routes—one known as the Cordova-Fairbanks route, the other the Seward-Fairbanks route—contemplated the purchase of an existing railway line. The question lay in selecting either Seward on the west shore of Prince William Sound, or Cordova on the east shore as the tidewater terminal of the government system.

The two routes were of approximately the same length and estimates of construction cost did not vary widely. The issue before the President probably lay in the price at which the existing lines could be obtained. Neither route presented serious engineering difficulties.

From Cordova, on the eastern shore of Prince William Sound, the Copper River & Northwestern Railroad, controlled by the J. P. Morgan Co., provides an outlet for copper mines at Kennicott and reaches Chitna, 132 miles distant, following the west bank of the Copper river. Not far out of Cordova the road runs for miles parallel to the coast line and crosses the Sheridan glacier flats. Making its way across a net-work of smaller streams which give the river an outlet to the sea, the line finally turns northward and passing between Miles and Childs glaciers follows the course of the Copper river all the way to Chitna where it turns east again to reach the copper mines.

It is from Chitna that the proposed route to Fairbanks via Cordova contemplates the building of 310 miles of new railroad. The line would continue up the Copper until the river swings to the west, then strike directly toward Ewan lake without serious grades to encounter. Beyond the lake the route lies close to the shores of the Tangle Lakes, that well deserve their name, until it emerges on the broad delta where rise the sources of the Tanana river up which the final stretch to Fairbanks would be laid.

This would form the trunk line, but as feeder branches are contemplated to the Bering river, Matamuska and Susitna valley regions to open the vast coal supplies and other mineral deposits, the total mileage of the proposed branches would be 420.

Two routes to the Bering river fields were suggested, one via Katalla and the other via Lake Charlotte. It has been urged that the Katalla route would open the coal road to attack from open sea in case of war while the Lake Charlotte line, 12 miles inland, would be protected from ships' guns by intervening hills.

From Seward, on the west shore of Prince William sound, the Alaska Northern Railroad winds through the hills to Kern creek, on the shore of Turnagain Arm of Cook Inlet. The distance is 71 miles and the company now is operating only light gasoline cars most of the time, heavier equipment passing over the line only when mining machinery is to be moved inland. It was proposed to continue the line along Turnagain arm for 30 miles, then swing northward up the east shore to Knik arm crossing that inlet at its head and follow the Susitna valley to Chulitna pass, emerging on the banks of the Chulitna river. Following the Chulitna to Broad pass, the line would make a right angle to find its way via the canons of the Nenana river to the banks of the Tanana along which the final stretch to Fairbanks would lie.

It was suggested that during the summer months Knik harbor on the east shore of Knik arm would be an available terminal, saving 115 miles of rail haul to and from Seward. The harbor is ice closed in winter while Seward and Cordova are both ice free roadsteads.

Cordova harbor, it had been reported, is more desirable for a terminal of the line because the great depth of water at Seward makes anchorage difficult. The Seward route, however, was closer to the coal fields and to the known mineral belts than the Cordova line and it was argued that the route of the Copper river railroad made it subject

GARRISON TALKS NATIONAL DEFENSE

Says Peace Can Never be Obtained Through Feebleness

SPEAKS IN NEW YORK

Secretary Says "Abhorrence of War and Love of Peace are Thoroughly Consistent With Wise Military Precautions"

New York, April 10.—Lindley M. Garrison, Secretary of War, in a discussion of national defense at a banquet of the Democratic Club of Westchester county here tonight, declared that no one who suggested that peace was to be obtained through feebleness should be listened to, and that "abhorrence of war and love of peace are thoroughly consistent with wise military precautions."

The problem of what military policy the United States should adopt and pursue, he said "is here now for our solution." "We have no right," Mr. Garrison declared, "from any standpoint to evade it or avoid it; we must realize our responsibility, fearlessly face the facts, and do those things which are wise and proper in the circumstances. Forethought and precaution are distinguishing differences between wisdom and folly.

"This obligation," he continued, "does not arise solely out of a selfish consideration of our personal safety; it was undertaken in our name by the founders of the government, who promised to provide for the common defense on behalf of themselves and their posterity; and therefore, as trustees of those who are to come after us, we have no right to leave them exposed to the hazards of the future without having provided the safeguards which reason dictates."

Mr. Garrison asserted that the need of "more of a standing army than we now have is a fact patent to every one who considers the subject," and that there was imperative need of trained reserves.

The mobile military force in the United States, he said, was less than 35,000 men, while of the organized militia, it was not expected by those who know, "that anything like their full numbers would respond to the call for national service."

"This is an exceptionally opportune time," Mr. Garrison continued, "to consider this question, because, while the war in Europe has contered the attention of our people upon the subject matter, we have no aggressive intention against any nation and there is no hint of any such aggressive intention on the part of any nation against us.

"The subject itself has nothing novel in it. From the foundation of the Government to the present time it has received the careful consideration of those whose responsibilities or experience caused them to comprehend the situation. All such practically reached similar conclusions as to the imperative need of proper measures of precaution. Unfortunately, for one reason or another, they were never able to cause the enactment of their conclusions into permanent form, and when occasion required, resort was had to make shifts and expedients, with all of the disastrous and humiliating results of such inadequate treatment of this vital subject.

"When the public opinion of this country has determined upon what general principles its military policy shall be founded, there will be no difficulty in working out the details and putting the same into effect. The difficulty has been, and is, to get the matter so brought home to the individual citizen that he will realize its vital importance, give it his best attention, and aid in its wise solution. The difficulties inherent in the nature of the subject are great enough without the misfortune of artificial obstacles placed in the way of its wise settlement. Such artificial obstables are those created by well meaning people who confuse the subject by injecting into it considerations which do not properly belong there. Abhorrence of war and love of peace are thoroughly consistent with wise military precautions. There is no issue in this country, and there can be none, between militarism and pacificism. No one who is taken seriously is even suggesting militarism; and no one who suggests that peace is to be obtained through feebleness should be listened to. The great sober sense of this country will surely not let its direction be deflected by so unsubstantial an obstable. What we are striving for, and what every wise, patriotic citizen should join in attaining, is a proper military policy.

"The way to attain this object is to consider the past, observe the present and take forethought for the future. We know that in the past, this matter has not received proper consideration on behalf of the public. Washington, Adams and Jefferson—the three great men who successively held the office of President—pleaded with the people to do what should be done in this connection, but their pleading was futile. Washington's bitter experience with untrained men and with a nation unprepared for war is well known to all of us, and his references thereto are too numerous citation. They may be summed up, however, in this statement of his:

"'The jealousy of a standing army, and the evils to be apprehended from one, are remote, and, in my judgment, situated and circumscribed as we are, not at all to be dreaded; but the consequence of wanting one, according to my views formed from the present view of things, is certain and inevitable ruin'."

Mr. Garrison pointed out the problems of defense that faced John Adams and Thomas Jefferson, and added:

"From those days to these, other great minds, trained, experienced, faced with the difficulties and dangers, proposed one remedy or another, but all failed of adoption.

"In most other nations of any size in the world this matter has been taken up and has been settled after careful consideration. Admittedly that is not the case with us.

"The exact question for decision, therefore, is, on what principles shall we provide for the expansion of our military forces so as to be reasonably prepared to meet emergencies? No one seriously proposes that this should be done by having a standing army of such considerable size as to meet that need.

"But that we need more of a standing army than we now have is a fact potent to every one who considers the subject. There is also imperative need of trained men in reserve to fill up the depleted ranks of the regular army, and a similar reserve for the organized militia.

"As to the numbers of the standing army, the method of obtaining these reserves, the methods of expansion in time of need, and other technical considerations of this character, it is not of vital importance that we should consider them at this time; they will be properly settled by those skilled in the military art when the general policy has been agreed upon.

"What we laymen can do at this time, and what we should do, and I wish to impress upon you to do, with as much earnestness as I can command, is to give this matter concentrated consideration, to reach the wisest conclusions thereon and to see to it that those who represent you are informed of your opinion and put it into effect."

to the moods of the glaciers among which it threads its way into the river mouth.

All reports looked to the eventual extension of the system to Yukon from Fairbanks and also discussed additional branch lines to tap other productive localities.

Probably the greatest tonnage for the system eventually will come from the coal mines of the Matanuska or Bering river regions. Whether the Bering field would supply suitable coal for navy use or not has been a matter of controversy for years. A report on navy tests made in 1912 was submitted to Congress last year which said the Bering coal was not suitable for the navy unless a higher grade of product was discovered when the deposits were explored for development.

The coal consumption of the Pacific coast has been estimated at 1,500,000 tons annually, exclusive of the 150,000 tons or more that the navy will need each year.

What the government thinks of Alaska is indicated by the expenditure of $35,000,000 for a railway, or almost five times the $7,200,000 which the United States paid Russia for Alaska. From Alaskan territory gold bullion worth more than $200,000,000 already has been produced—nearly 30 times the purchase price of Alaska—and the total of Alaskan resources in furs and fisheries as well as minerals probably now exceed $500,000,000.

All government experts agree that the surface of the mineral deposits has hardly been scratched as yet. Lode mining has been confined to the coastal regions, easy of access. Transportation of machinery and supplies has been heretofore too difficult a problem in the interior to permit the working of any but fantastically rich placer deposits.

Only one of the many copper deposits has been more than prospected and yet copper worth $15,000,000 has been shipped from the territory.

Alaska has a population of about 65,000, half of whom are white. Twenty thousand of these white pioneers are in the central region through which the new trunk line will operate and there are indications that their number will be quadrupled before the whole line is in operation.

WITH THE MAN IN THE STREET

April, Month of Spring—With the arrival of April, month of sunshine and shower, our eye is attracted and our thoughts engaged by things beautiful. The grass is greening; the leaf unfolding on tree and shrub, and the tiny crocus, tulip, butter-cup and violet are exhibiting bright little faces above the dank gray earth, adorning, as well as making the garden fragrent with incense which they offer. Listen, and you will hear the joyous twitter of birds at nest-building — the cheery whistle of a small boy on his way schoolward or perhaps a snatch of song from some fair throat. Aye, springtime is here, when April comes laughing in —laughing to hide the tear-drops which may fall ere the day is done—for April is as capricious as any maiden, and possesses similar powers of bewitchment. Yes, there is fascination in April—most loved of the months.

'And 'tis April that the bride loves best; aye, June may be called the month of brides—and roses, but down here in the Southland April is her choice, and as soon as the sacred Lenten season has come to a close wedding festivities begin, and the church bells which for forty days have solemnly called to worship a forgetful work-a-day world, now send forth quick, joyous peals, announcing tidings glad. There is much of happiness about—all happiness, save to him who would wonder. The wonder is as to whether the man with the sweet girl bride by his side will be always good and true. Does he think of the heart-ache it causes to relinquish a home where love is assured and go forth, it may be, to distant lands with him? And in the years to come will he remember the sacrifice which the woman made? Man, being a selfish creature, often does not. He takes his good fortune as a matter of course, and once the nuptial vows are spoken forgets—to remember.

And that is why a small boy we once knew—a boy with the face of an angel —was walking into the office and transacting business like a veteran. If one inquired why he was not at school, he would have replied in a dignified way: "I have to work." And it was true; he did have to work, for there was a mother, frail of health, and the boy-child labored that she might rest. He was a manly chap, for all his youth, and seemed happy in the despatch of his duties, but the writer was prone to pity that lad; to feel grief for the joy he was missing. What would the memory of boyhood be without marbles, tops and kites? What joy would there be in retrospection, did it not reveal April Fool jokes perpetrated in the school room; and what would a blazing log fire on a cold, rainy afternoon mean —it might warm the hands but not the heart—did it not recall memories of "Uncle Remus'" tales read in a mother's never to be forgotten voice, while an interested youngster pressed hard and harder 'gainst her knee as the tale more exciting grew. And ofttimes there were others—trooping at his heels —neighboring boys who wished to share the fun. Mother sometimes smiled when the crowd was very miscellaneous—and damp, but never, ah, never, did she refuse the request to read. And there were always apples!

And a father who, at night-time, took the small chap upon his knee and gave patient ear and kindly answer to childish chatter and questions. Blessed memories!

But the child with the face of an angel will have none of them, for his father was such an one that the frail mother and little boy were glad when he left them—left them alone to struggle 'gainst poverty—disgrace—despair. So the child was forced to support the gentle-faced woman—robbed of his childhood, and the innocent joys that go with it he took his place in a world of men—too soon. Thus a grave duty to childhood was unfulfilled—ceaseless heartache caused by this man who forgot—to remember.

The Young Man's Fancy—And, apropos of springtime, its subtle alchemy works many wonders. The attitude of one of our contemporary workers toward the fair sex just at this time is proof of this.

During the long bleak months of the winter time, he reads Joseph Conrad, Mark Twain, works on political economy, philosophy and history. And he is ready, at such times to recount positively and at length on the folly of man's falling in love, on the foolishness of love itself, and to preach a profound and pessimistic discourse tending to show that for ways that are dark and tricks that are vain, the slant-eyed son of the Celestial kingdom is a rank amateur compared to your woman of today.

But spring is here, and last night, when his work was finished, he fished down into the recesses of his desk and brought forth a dainty, padded leather volume of poetry and regalged us for some time with readings from Burn's "Highland Mary," "My Love is Like a Red, Red Rose," and other tender effusions of like sentiment.

We have had not quite a week of real spring weather, and already he is a changed man.

Verily there is much truth in the statement that in the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns of thoughts of love.

Councilman, 5th Ward

I hereby announce my candidacy for Councilman from the Fifth Ward, subject to the will of the voters in the Primary to be held April 20th.

I promise, if elected, to serve faithfully to the best of my ability.

My platform is:

1. Limiting Public Expenditures to the annual income of the city.
2. Constant and careful economy in administration of public funds.
3. If possible, a reduction of the tax rate for the next fiscal year.
4. Encouragement of manufacturing interests, favoring every possible municipal inducement to have factories locate here.
5. Protection of interests of capital, labor and investor.
6. Selection of competent, sober and industrious employes for the city government.

Trusting that the above platform will entitle me to your support, and assuring you that I shall adhere thereto, if elected, I am,
Very truly yours,
J. B. FALES.

COUNCILMAN—SIXTH WARD.

I hereby beg to announce myself as a candidate for Councilman from the Sixth Ward. If elected, I will endeavor to serve the city to the best of my ability. Respectfully, ap6-tf J. HAUGHTON JAMES.

TO THE VOTERS OF THIRD WARD.

I hereby announce my candidacy for councilman from the Third Ward, and will appreciate the support of voters in the primary election to be held April 20th.

If nominated and elected I shall endeavor to discharge the duties imposed in a fair and impartial manner. J. A. McNORTON.

GENERAL FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS

President's Address.

My Happy Friends—

Since last writing you I have had a week's trip through the Rio Grande Valley in company with my state president, Mrs. Henry B. Fall, and Mrs. G. R. Scott, of Corpus Christi. This is the section of Texas that during the last seven years has been changed by irrigation from a desert into a garden. We went by automobile to Mission, Pharr, Mercedes, San Benito, and Brownsville. We preached everywhere "Plant Palms, and Co-operate." The fine roads from Mission to Brownsville, bordered with palms and with the greatest variety of wild flowers will make one of the most attractive automobile routes in the United States. A unique out-door reception was held at Mercedes at 11 a. m., under the palm trees, with roses blooming, orange trees rich in fruit, flower, and foliage, and a balmy air that bespoke midspring rather than February. The people here are from all parts of the world. Later, we visited Kingsville, and had the delightful experience of a day and night on the famous King Ranch, which has more than a million acres and cattle innumerable. However, I told wonderful Mrs. King, who, at the age of 83, is still alert on every question of the day, that I felt as if I were speaking under false pretenses when I spoke of her home (called Santa Gertrudis) as a ranch house. When you learn that the rugs, the draperies, much of the furniture, and the interior decorations were designed by Tiffany, you will not wonder at my feeling thus. Last we visited Corpus Christi, where Texas held her state convention in 1913 when Mrs. Phillip N. Moore was the special guest of honor. Mrs. Scott had many interesting stories to tell of the great help Mrs. Moore was during the convention. At the Valley Federation at Pharr and everywhere throughout the trip we found the women vitally interested in federation matters. The rural problem is uppermost in their minds. So excellent is their work, so great their courage, that I came home refreshed both in body and in spirit.

The Council Meeting.

It is impossible for me to write a letter these days without speaking of our Council meeting that is to convene the night of May 31 in Portland, Ore., The programme with Mrs. Julian Clarke as chairman, is working out well; Dr. David Starr Jordan is to speak on peace. We are to do our very best in Portland to have more time than ever for the personal touch. The State presidents meet in a free conference with the president of the General Federation. The chairmen and members of departments of work will meet with Mrs. Sneath, first vice president. The General Federation state secretaries will hold a session with Mrs. Frank White, chairman of the membership committee, presiding. There will be time after each group of subjects for discussion, and this discussion will be open to every member of the council. What the Portland women have to offer, they, themselves, will tell you in their delightful fashion. The days are to be full of good cheer, of encouragement, and of inspiration. Do come, and help us both work and play.

Chairmen Coming West.

So far, the following chairmen are planning to attend the council, and to linger in the west. I hope many states and towns will capture some of these gifted women, as well as our Board members, en route, and ask from them a message.

Mrs. Wellville, F. Johnson Art Senior Docent, Art Building, Panama Exposition, San Francisco, Cal.

Mrs. George Zimmerman, civics, Fremont, Ohio.

Mrs. Frederick Cole, civil service reform, 1819 Spencer street, Omaha, Neb.

Mrs. John D. Sherman, conservation, Hyde Park hotel, Chicago.

Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, literature, the Maryland, Minneapolis, Minn.

Mrs. F. S. Wardwell, Music, Highland Terrace, Stanford, Conn. (Mrs. Wardwell talks on "The Speaking Voice," a much needed subject. She can start West May 10).

Mrs. Elmer Blair, public health, 415 Western avenue, Albany, New York.

Peace Committee.

I hope you read the excellent article in the last magazine by Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles, the chairman of the peace committee. From the establishment of this committee under the educational department three years ago it has been the policy to work in a quiet fundamental, educational way. It has seemed best to make no alliances with any of the various peace organizations, but to concentrate on the plans outlined by our own peace committee. In order to aid the work, I am this day sending requests to all state presidents to observe in a fitting manner May 18 which has been set aside by President Wilson as peace day. I am also asking that for the year 1915-16, as many as possible of our eleven departments make an earnest effort to do some concrete peace work. Mrs. Thos. G. Winter, chairman of literature, The Maryland, Minneapolis, Minn., has just issued a "Peace Pageant for Children." You will also be interested in "The Immigrant as Seen Through His Own Literature," prepared by Mrs. Winter.

Book Out April First..

Miss Stearns and I have just spent a full day on The Pamphlet Outlining the Departments of Work. We are proud of the labor of our chairmen, and so will you be when you see the work. It will be in your hands by April 1. Please do not decide finally on your work for next year until you read the truly wonderful outlines of our chairmen.

Wishing you a joyous Easter I am as ever,

ANNA J. H. PENNYBACKER.

Austin, Texas, March 13, 1915.

President's Itinerary.

Mrs. Pennybacker, president of the General Federation, will turn her face westward early in May, visiting the exposition at St. Diego, speaking at Los Angeles, and arriving at San Francisco on May 17th, where she will address the annual convention of the Californit Federation and also call at the great Panama-Pacific Exposition. From there she will go to Portland, where the Mid-Biennial Council of the General Federation is to open on May 31st. On the adjournment of the Council Mrs. Pennybacker expects to speak at State Federations or special meetings in Washington, Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Nevada and Alaska, and August 12th, will find her at Chautauqua, N. Y., where she will deliver an address, as she has done for a number of years.

Music at Portland Council.

Mrs. F. S. Wardwell, chairman of the music department of the General Federation, will have the assistance of excellent local talent in her efforts to make the music at the Council a delight and an inspiration. There will be congregational singing, and all are urged to take their singing voices with them. Under the auspices of the Music Department there is to be a talk on "The Speaking Voice," and club women may thus learn how to have strong sweet voices, and distinct enunciation. Mrs. Wardwell is also ambitious to impress upon women's clubs that music has as important a place in club life as art or drama, and that it ought to be considered not merely as entertainment, but from the intellectual and spiritual standpoint as well.

Important Study Outlines.

The Literature department of the General Federation has just issued several valuable outlines for club study. "The Immigration as Seen Through His Own Literature" contains a bibliography on the general subject of immigration, a brief characterization of the literature of each of the great races that is chiefly contributing to our own population, together with a list of available translations recommended for study. The leaflet is calculated to reconcile those who clamor against the steady tide of immigrants, showing clearly and honestly what these people bring to us.

Clubs are urged to consult the leaflet entitled "Federated Clubs and the Movies", which sets forth the methods found practicable for improving the situation and suggests how concerted club work may still further remedy conditions.

An excellent Peace Pageant for School Children is also offered, which will doubtless prove helpful in the work of creating a sound public opinion on this great question.

Another leaflet, "Modern Topics as Illustrated by Modern Literature," is especially valuable, being a reading list of plays, novels and poems dealing with industrial conditions, the immigrant, the negro, business morals, socialism, government, rural life, prisons, alcohol, heredity, women marriage, divorce, social purity, and the new ideals. Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, the Maryland, Minneapolis, Minn., is chairman of the literature department.

Booklet Contains Outlines of Work.

The booklet containing the outlines of the several departments of work of the General Federation of Woman's Clubs is just out, and may be had by addressing Mrs. Mary I. Wood, Bureau of Information, Portsmouth, N. H.. It is especially important that programme committees consult this booklet in

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson III.—Second Quarter, For April 18, 1915.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Topic for Sunday, April 11, 1915. GETTING READY FOR THE NEXT LIFE.

Col. 3:1-4 (Easter Meeting)

We reap what we sow. The life here determines the character of the life hereafter.

President Hadley, of Yale, in an address to the students, said: "We think of life as a goblet to be drained; is it not rather a measure to be filled?"

It is not talents, nor gifts, nor power that do the work of God. It is the simple, earnest life, "hid with Christ in God," and lies within the power of the weakest, the humblest.

The Christian will evidence his life in Christ by asking the things that Christ reveals and loves. He will be getting ready in this life for the next life. Christ is risen from the dead and ascended to the court of Heaven, and has left us to serve Him in this life. We ought to set our minds on things above, and not fasten our affections to the things of earth.

Our life is to be a life of service, and we are to serve Christ. If we give Him the right place, in our hearts and plans, our lives will be a continual service. If this life is all, is it worth living? If Christ and His promises are true, then our future life is the one we are to live for.

The majority of people put too much emphasis on death. Death is merely transition. The dead do not cease living; they live in another condition and another state. Living is more important than dying; the kind of life we are living now is a preparation we are to make for the next life; therefore we should not think much about dying but very much about living. Baalam said, "Let me die the death of the righteous, and my last end be like His." But that was impossible, for Baalam, because he was not living the life of the righteous. He put the emphasis on death; the emphasis ought to be upon life.

Easter is a joyous religious action in the year, because it is the annual celebration of Christ's resurrection. Every Sunday emphasizes Easter, but annual days are well worth noting. No matter what form the ceremonies take, Easter celebrates a great fact, and that fact is the foundation fact of Christianity.

A young woman, crippled and deformed from infancy, once said, "I love to plant flower seeds, for the homely little insignificant seed comes up a beautiful green plant, and blossoms with lovely flowers, and then I remember that I, if I do the best I can, where I am, may some day grow out of this homely body into beauty."

A visitor at a monastery in Ireland says that theugh they are bound to the rule of silence, they are allowed to speak two words in passing, "Remember Death." To live with death and the grave in view seems to be their chief aim. Much more after the example of Jesus would be a motto which emphasizes life: "Remember life."

A famous cape was once reputed to be the fatal barrier to the navigation of the ocean. Of all those whom the wind or the current had drawn into its waters none had re-appeared. A bold navigator determined to surmount the obstacle. He opened the route to the East Indies, acquired for his country the riches of the world, and changed the "Cape of Storms" into the "Cape of Good Hope." So Christ has proved Himself death's conqueror, and made the grave to be the gate of life for us.

"If my life cannot be long it shall be full," said a lovely young girl, who learned upon leaving college that she could not live many years. Her longing had been for the foreign field, but Alice Jackson toiled zealously and with winsome sweetness for the girls on the East Side of New York.

How good it would be for us if this bright Easter day could show us immortality and so set some of us free.

I will strive to raise my own body and soul daily into the higher powers of duty and happiness, for the help of others and for the joy and peace of my own life.—John Ruskin.

Eternal life is a condition, not a period.

Wherever are tears and sighs,
Wherever are children's eyes,
Where man calls man his brother,
And loves as himself another
Christ lives! The angel said:
"Why seek ye the living among the dead?"

Lesson Text of the Lesson, Ps. xxiii—Memory Verses, Ps. xxiii—Golden Text, Ps. xxiii, 1—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

This most familiar of all the psalms to many people is as farreaching as any and will have its complete fulfillment only in the kingdom when Isa. xi, 10, 11; Jer. xxiii, 5, 6; Ezek. xxxvii, 21-28, shall be fulfilled in the eyes of all nations, with every other prediction concerning Israel's future glory. All the true shepherds and shepherdesses of the Bible are suggestive of Christ and Israel, with some reference also to Christ and His church. He is primarily the Shepherd of Israel, leading Joseph like a flock, dwelling between the cherubim (Ps. lxxx, 1). He is also the Good Shepherd giving His life for the sheep and giving eternal life to His sheep, the sheep of His pasture (John x, 11, 27, 28; Ps. c, 3). He is the Great Shepherd risen from the dead, by whom God works in His people that which is well pleasing in His sight (Heb. xiii, 20, 21). He is also the chief Shepherd, who, at the resurrection of the just, will give the crowns to those who have won them and among others the crown of glory to those who have faithfully fed the flock (I Pet. v, 1-4).

All the shepherds, such as Abel, Jacob, Joseph, Moses and David, were wondrously typical of the Good Shepherd, and the women also, such as Rachel and Zipporah, who kept sheep, give us much to meditate upon, but all centers upon Him who is altogether lovely and of whom our souls say, "My meditation of Him shall be sweet; I will be glad in the Lord" (Song v, 16; Ps. civ, 34). The sequences of Scripture are most interesting and helpful studies, and in Psalm xxii, xxiii, xxiv, we have one of the most wonderful. Ps. xxii tells very fully of His sufferings, as if written by an eyewitness; speaks of His hands and feet pierced, His garments divided and lots cast upon His vesture, and quotes some of the very words flung at Him as He hung upon the cross, but it also tells of the resurrection and the kingdom. Ps. xxiii suggests Israel's glory in the millennial kingdom, and Ps. xxiv tells of the King of glory ruling the whole world in righteousness.

No one can truly say "The Lord is my Shepherd" who has not seen Him dying in their stead, bearing their sins in His own body and received Him as their own Saviour (Gal. ii, 20; I Pet. ii, 24; John i, 12; Eph. i, 6, 7). Then only can we be sure that we shall never want any good thing, for He who spared not His own Son will with Him also freely give us all things (Ps. xxxiv, 9, 10; lxxxiv, 11; Rom. viii, 32). It is impossible that such a Shepherd could withhold from any of His sheep anything really good for them.

Pastures of tender grass and waters of quietness (Ps. ii, margin), such would He have us enjoy always if we would only keep close to Him and not stray away like a lost sheep, choosing our own pasture and causing Him to grieve over us, saying, "Oh, that my people had hearkened unto me and Israel had walked in my ways" (Ps. lxxxi, 11-16). Although none of His sheep can ever perish, they may wander and need restoration, as when David said, "I have gone astray like a lost sheep; seek thy servant," or, again, "Restore unto me the joy of Thy salvation" (Ps. cxix, 176; ii, 12). He will be glad to lead us in the paths of righteousness if we are only willing to be thus led. Thus only can we foretaste the kingdom and know something of its peace and quietness and assurance.

The expression "the shadow of death" is just one word and is found ten times in Job, four times in the Psalms and four times in the prophets. It may refer to the whole time of our sojourn here for we may be said to be always in the shadow of death, but the believer can always say, "I will fear no evil," for to the child of God death is always gain and very far better (Phil. i, 21, 23). Death is never spoken of as the coming of Christ, for, although death brings gain to the believer, it is always an enemy, the last enemy to be destroyed (I Cor. xv, 26). In life or death, if we are His, He is always with us to guide, comfort, sustain, protect us and assures us that He will never leave us or fail us (Deut. xxxi, 8; Isa. xli, 10, 13; Heb. xiii, 5).

The table in the presence of enemies will have a great fulfillment at the beginning of the next age, when He will come in glory for Israel's deliverance. It will then be a feast of fat things, when He will take away the rebuke of His people from off all the earth (Isa. xxv, 6-9). For the believer there is always a feast, and we may be day by day satisfied with the fatness of His house and drink of the river of His pleasures (Ps. xxxvi, 8). It is a reproach to the Lord when His people are seen seeking satisfaction at the world's table. When truly anointed with the Holy Spirit we shall so enjoy the Lord and His fullness that there shall be an overflow for others, but how few seem to overflow! Some one has said that with the Lord going before (John x, 4) and with goodness and mercy following (verse 6) we are cared for as only heaven can care for us. Then to think of our forever home, from which we shall go no more out (John xiv, 1-3); only unbelief can make us sad. May our hearts ever respond to "Let us be glad and rejoice and give honor to Him" (Rev. xix, 7).

Seven Hundred and Fifty Fine and Distinguished Tailor-Mades for Women and Misses

Kinds for Which You Are Accustomed to Paying

$35.00 and $40.00

High grade samples; hence, perhaps, only one, two, three or a half dozen of each kind. But there are all sizes in the lot, and sufficient variety to cater to every taste and need. Materials include: Wool Poplin, Wool Faille, Chuddah Cloth, Gabardine, Men's Wear Serge, Shepherd Checks.

If we wrote as we feel about these suits, you would think it an exaggeration—but they will surpass your highest expectations!

Styles are Plain Tailored, Norfolk, Eton, Prince Chap and Empire; Five Are Sketched

The jackets are all richly lined with yarn-dyed Peau de Cygnes of pale, pretty snades. Skirts are in variety of the smartest, plain and plaited, flare models, and in Biege, Tan, Russian Green, Black, Battleship Gray, Brown and Black and White.

The trimmings are elegant, dignified and eloquent of the most expensive modes—silk embroidered bands, chic plaitings, silk collars, silk buttons, jaunty belts and large pockets in patch and flap effects.

$25.00—Tomorrow's Special Price for These Hand some Tailor-Mades—Very Conservatively Valued at $35.00 and $40.00; Many Worth More.

Shepherd and Club Checks, 49 Cents

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

BUYING MOVEMENT CONTINUES

More General and Exciting Advance Recorded in New York Cotton on Short Session.

New York, April 10.—The buying movement in cotton was renewed on an even more general and excited scale today with October and later deliveries making new high records for the season. Realizing caused moderate reactions in the late trading but last prices were steady at a net advance of 11 to 15 points.

The market opened firm at an advance of 8 to 12 points in response to the unexpectedly strong showing of Liverpool and active months sold 18 to 21 points net higher before the end of the first hour on heavy buying by Wall Street and commission houses generally. A heavy demand for October contracts from some of the larger spot interests carried that month up to 10.65.

The strength and activity of Wall Street, regarded as reflecting either reports of improving general trade or more confident talk of early peace in Europe probably accounted for a good deal of the buying.

Realizing became quite active after the first hour, but in spite of the rapidly increasing local stocks which has gained about 13,000 bales since the first of the month, there seemed to be very little selling against actual, either by Southern or local spot firms. Favorable reports from the domestic goods trade contributed to the early advance.

Cotton futures closed steady.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

Market Made Another Rapid Rise on Yesterday's Session—Good Gains.

New Orleans, April 10.—Cotton made another rapid rise today, standing 20 to 21 points over yesterday's last quotations at the best and closing at a net gain of 17 points. Much the same influences were at work that caused yesterday's bulge only today outside buying was more in evidence. Peace talk still persisted and much was made of the better accounts coming from American industries generally.

The advance started in Liverpool which went to much higher levels than required to meet the improvement on this side yesterday. Reports from the Western belt said spot owners were holding cotton more firmly than ever because of the developments in the future markets.

There was much liquidation at the advance by longs, but the demand was great enough to offsetthese offerings. At the best of the day prices were a few points over the previous high levels for the season.

Cotton futres closing: May 9.66; July 9.92; October 10.26; December 10.44; January 10.51.

Spot cotton steady 12 points up. Middling 9.31, sales on the spot 2,300, to arrive 1,650.

COTTON SEED OIL MARKET.

New York, April 10.—Cotton seed oil was firmer today on covering, promoted by firmness in the lard and cotton markets and on a more favorable outlook to the cash position, closing generally 1 to 5 points net higher.

The market closed irregular. Spot, 6.50@6.80; April, 6.55@6.75; May, 6.74@6.76; June, 6.90@6.92; July, 7.02@7.03; August, 7.13¾7.15; September, 7.25@7.26; October, 7.26@7.28; November, 6.90@7.20. Total sales, 8,600.

LIVERPOOL COTTON MARKET.

Liverpool, April 10. — Cotton, spot, firm; good middling, 6.04; middling, 5.68; low middling, 5.30; sales, 6,000; speculation and export, 8.00; receipts, 31,000. Futures, very steady. May-June, 5.62½; June-July, 5.63½; July-August, 5.76½; October-November, 5.90½; January-February, 5.96½; March and April, 6.03¼.

LARGE WEEK-END BUSINESS

Profit Taking of Very Broad and General Character Only Drawback of the Stock Market.

New York, April 10.—Profit-taking of a very broad and general character in which Europe participated to an unusual degree was almost the sole restraint upon speculative excesses in the stock market today. Even then higher prices were established and in some instances retained on the largest week-end business in six years.

At the opening, which was marked by much confusion and excitement, practically all the leading stocks and a majority of the specialties moved somewhat unevenly towards levels substantially above yesterday's high figures. United States Steel was the outstanding feature, interest converging around that stock because its meteoric rise yesterday. Opening at a fractional advance, it soon gained a full point at 58, but as speedily fell to 55 1-2 under the weight of enormous offerings. Its close was 56, a one point loss, on dealings in excess of 180,000 shares. Bethlehem Steel was the sole exception to the general tendency, falling back two points in the early dealings and increasing the loss to four points. At no time did it figure importantly in the day's operations.

Motor shares, while strong, also lost some of their recent prominence.

Harrimans, the Anthracites, Atchison, Canadian Pacific, Pennsylvania and New York Central rose 1 to 2 1-2 points, but failed to hold.

The March statement of the United States Steel Corporation showing a decrease of 89,622 tons in unfilled orders compared with the previous month, upset most calculations, a slight increase having been expected. General news included the weekly reviews of trade conditions in which distinct improvement was noted.

Bonds were strong but failed to keep pace with the movement in stocks. Total sales, par value, aggregated $2,761,000. Panama coupon and registered 2s declined 1-2 per cent on call during the week.

WEEKLY DRY GOODS REVIEW

Cotton Goods Markets Have Grown Firmer and Prices Have Advanced.

New York, April 10.—Cotton goods markets have grown firmer and prices have continued to advance. May lines of colored cottons have been placed at value or withdraw from sale because of the scarcity of domestic dyestuffs and the uncertainty of further supplies. Several lines of brown and bleached domestics are quoted higher from steady sales for summer delivery. There has been sustained activity in ready-to-wear circles.

Exports of cotton goods continue large, in fact, larger than last year to date, much of the inorease coming from the large use of cotton duck and the active trade in Mediterranean and African ports. Wide sheetings are up 3 1-2 per cent., through a shortening of discounts. Denims and many other colored lines are priced at nominal figures. Prints and percales are moving steadily. Bleached muslins are higher. Printcloths sales have been active. Quotations: Printcloths 28-inch 64 by 64s, 3c, 64 by 60s 2 7-8c; 38 1-2 inch 64 by 64s, 4 1-8c; brown sheetings Southern standards 6 1-4, denims 9 ounce 13c, tickings 11 1-2c, standard prints 5s, staple standard ginghams 6 1-4, dress kinghams 9 1-4c.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

New York, April 10. — Cotton goods and yarns were firm today. Burlaps were strong. Linens were firm. Men's wear and dress goods were in moderate demand for immediate use. Advance orders were slow. Knit goods were higher.

NEW YORK PRODUCE MARKET.

New York, April 10. — Raw sugar, firm; centrifugal, 4.64; molasses, 3.87; refined, steady.

Butter—Firmer.

Cheese—Steady.

Coffee—Spot, easier. Rio, No. 7, 7½; Santos, No. 4, 10½.

RELIEF STEAMER SUNK.

British Vessel Returning from Rotterdam—Carried Supplies.

Rotterdam, via London, April 11.—The British steamer Harpalyce, the first relief boat of New York State and under charter to the Commission for Relief in Belgium, has either been torpedoed or sunk by a mine in the North Sea.

The Dutch steamer Elizabeth, on its voyage from Rotterdam for New York, picked up 22 of the crew of the Harpalyce seven miles northeast of Nordhinder lightship and brought tem back to Rotterdam. The Dutch steamer Constance Catherina picked up five men and took them to Nieuwe Waterweg. The steamer carried of crew of 53 men, 26 of whom, it is feared, have been drowned.

Those rescued by the Elizabeth included the second mate and the second engineer, the latter wounded.

The Harpalyce, under its charter to the Belgian relief commission had a permit securing immunity from attack.

The Harpalyce, which was of 3,691 tons, was a comparatively new steamer, owned by J. & C. Harrison, of London. She sailed from New York March 7 with more than 11,000 individual gifts for the relief of the Belgians and arrived at Rotterdam on March 30th. It is presumed that the Harpalyce cargo had been unloaded and that she was on her return voyage. She was commanded by Captain Frank Wamna who prior to his departure from New York declared he was not worried about mines or submarines.

In Anticipation of Coming of Railroad From Lillington.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., April 10.—The Jones county town of Richlands has a boom on, and is boosting the new railroad which its business men are confident will be extended to the town from Lillington. The townships of all the counties through which the line will be run guaranteed $25,000 in bonds. Richlands will be benefited more by this road, which would put it in connection with several big systems, than by the small line from Dover which now terminates there.

ANNUAL BANQUET POSTPONED.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Wilson, N. C., April 10.—Final arrangements have been consummated for the annual meeting and banquet of the Wilson chamber of commerce to be held Thursday night, April 15—a change of date from that first announced, made imperative by other gatherings.

Chicago, April 10.—The official canvass, of the vote of last Tuesday's municipal election concluded today, shows William Hale Thompson, Republican, defeated Robert M. Sweitzer, Democrat by a plurality of 145,977.

ANNOUNCEMENT

To the Public:

There are many hundred people who have been benefitted by the Cooperative Building and Loan Association, and this is to announce to these people, men, women and children, that on May First the new series will open.

The shares are twenty-five cents each and for each share you get one hundred dollars at maturity. We have prepared and would like to present free a neat little booklet describing Building and Loan.

It is the life-saver in time of need, and this stock is only offered to those who will some day need money. The series is limited to one thousand shares and will doubtless be oversubscribed, so call for shares now at 124 Princess street.

THE BEST TIME TO BUY REAL ES-tate is just before the rise in price, provided the price is low and you can get good terms. That time is now. For instance, we are offering for sale at $625.00 a lot on the corner of Fifteenth and Castle streets. Less than two years ago the owner refused $850. It has a frontage of 66 feet on Castle street and a good depth. Think of it, and the terms are right. Then at Winter Park we have a lot right at the intersection of the Wrightsville Turnpike and the Masonboro Road, the frontage of which is over 160 feet and runs back to a 30-foot avenue. We will sell this as a whole, or in parts; the price is less than half its value. Don't bother to think about the terms, for we'll take a slow note, just the same as on a neat little cottage about two miles from town on the Scott's Hill Road. This large lot and cottage is cheap at $900.00, but can be bought this week for $750.00. It's a bargain, too, just the same as is a 40 foot lot which we have on Orange street, at Carolina Court. Inquire about this and double your money within twelve months. We don't ask for the cash, nor do we for the most beautiful lot in Wilmington, which is located on Market street, between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets. The frontage is 41 feet and runs 157 1-2 feet deep to an alley way. No need to say nice things about this property; you know it's there and worth the price we are asking, when location and convenience are considered. Cut this list out and Phone us Monday. D. R. Foster & Company, Sole Agents; Phone 1220. ap 11-1t
